WORLD AWAITS SPEECH OF GERMAN CHANCELLOR

While the world today is awaiting with keen interest the declaration of German policy which the new imperial chancellor, Dr. Georg Michaelis, is expected to deliver in the Reichstag, the military forces of the belligerents for the moment are engaged in infantry operations of major importance only along the front in eastern Galicia.

Reports from this theatre of intense activity have indicated lessening in the speed of the Russian drive. There has even been a recession at one point where Austrian and German reserves have been thrown into the fray in an effort to stop the Russian advance.

Otherwise, the French front in northern France presents the most notable features of momentary interest. New days pass without an effort on the part of the Germans to get back some of the valuable territory which was wrested from them in the spring offensive, or to make local inroads elsewhere on the French lines.

Attack Near St. Quentin

A new field was chosen for an attempt of this sort last night, the first really sharp attack for some time in the field of the great Hindenburg lines.

THOMPSONS CONFESSES TO TRIPLE MURDER

Humphries, prominent coal operator, his wife, Mrs. Marie Humphries and their 15-year-old son, Edmund I. The confession was made in the presence of Judge Edward Kane of the County Jail and Thompson's attorneys.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN MINISTER QUILTS

PETROGRAD, July 19.—Another member of the Russian provisional government resigned today. The minister who tendered his resignation was M. Pervezeloff, who held the portfolio of justice.

Shots Exchanged
PETROGRAD, July 19.—Owing to reports of an intended attack on the Tauride palace for the purpose of arresting M. Skoboleff, minister of labor, M. Tseretelli, minister of posts and telegraphs and M. Tchernoff, minister of agriculture, the military police on route a machine gun regiment. Shots were exchanged and some horses were killed. A party of infantry stationed at the Champ de Mars, scene of the military reviews, fired on the Cossacks from Pavlovsk.

Lenine a German Agent
PETROGRAD, July 19.—A letter from Gen. Brussiloff's chief of staff states that Nikolai Lenine, the radical socialist leader, is one of the German general staff. The evidence was traced through the confession of Lieut. Ermakov, a deserter from the front of the sixth Russian army to further propaganda in favor of early peace with Germany.

Lenine's Deal with Germany
The alleged chief German agent in Russia, M. Kollontay, to whom account is standing two million rubles are now standing.

Strike Not Settled
Although the strike of 100 men employed in the cloth room of the Merrimack mills has not been definitely settled, Agent Wadleigh stated today that a number of the men have returned to work and it is expected that the matter will be completely settled in a few days.

THE TEST

In the examinations for engineers conducted by great railroads, the ability to instantly recognize and choose colors is one of the most severe, most important and most interesting tests.

One color red when it is green; some fail to see green at all; others do not "sense" red and call it white. Others call a white light a colored light.

But definite standards must be set. Hence the rigid examinations; each color must be just as represented.

Our stocks are ready for YOUR tests. What we advertise you can see. What we show is just as represented. Each article of merchandise is able to stand on its merits and you will find its price fair in advance of its price. When may we expect your test?

retreat of last March being delivered just to the south of St. Quentin. The crown prince chose a front nearly a half mile in extent, where the French occupied a hillcock to the east of Gauchay. General Belain's forces were taken aback at first by the intensity of the drive and yielded some ground in the first line. They rallied, quickly, however, and drove the Germans out of the greater part of the occupied positions.

Petrograd in Turmoil

The situation in Petrograd continues troubled, but the provisional government apparently has decided to take hold with a firm hand and have it out with the ultra-extreme elements which are keeping the city in a turmoil. Martial control has been established there and drastic measures seem to be the order of the day.

Transfer Sent of Government

Meanwhile the cabinet council is considering a proposal to transfer the seat of government to Moscow, to remove it from the scene of turmoil and to concentrate the general assembly of workers, soldiers and peasants will be held at Moscow to prevent interference from an irresponsible section of the Petrograd garrison.

Russian Sink U-Boat

The sinking of a German submarine by Russian forces in the Baltic is reported from Petrograd.

WILSON PARDONS 16 SUFFRAGISTS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—President Wilson today issued pardons for the 16 suffragists, who are serving a 60-day sentence in the workhouse at Occoquan, Va., for picketing in front of the White House.

Secretary Taft said the pardon must speak for itself and that the White House would have no statement to make of the president's reason for his action.

Woman's party leaders at their headquarters expressed surprise at the president's action and declared emphatically that "picketing" of the White House would not stop as a result of it.

"These women now in the workhouse have no interest in a pardon," Miss Mabel Vernon said. "They submitted themselves to arrest in the interest of national woman suffrage and not in the interest of a pardon for their alleged offense."

Dundley Field Malone, collector of customs of New York, who had planned to appeal the cases of the prisoners, declined to make any comment on the president's action, which will not take effect until the suffragists are released from their confinement where they are in conference.

Marshal Gen. Crowder Explains Method of Selecting New Army

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Nine thirty o'clock tomorrow morning in a committee room of the senate offices building has been fixed as the time and place for the war army drawing.

Method of Drawing
WASHINGTON, July 18.—Ten million men are registered in the United States for war service—687,000 are needed in the first call for the national army. Who shall go first?

This question is asked and the method by which it is to be answered outlined by Provost Marshal General Crowder in an explanation issued last night of the great drawing about to be held in Washington. The scheme evolved is so simple that the drawing of one set of a thousand numerals and another of eleven will fix with absolute equality of chance the order in which every one of the ten million registrants shall report to his local board for examination and subsequent exemption, discharge or accepted for military service.

Since the average exemption district registration is 3000 and there are 457 districts, the average number of men listed with each order of the drawing machinery will be about 10,000.

Call 200 Per Cent at First

General Crowder announces also that local boards will be instructed to call 200 per cent of their quota at the first call to provide for probable exemptions. That means that 1,374,000 men will be notified to appear for examination within the next few days. If more are necessary they will be called for as needed by the local boards in the order provided for in the drawing. In some districts the 100 per cent allowance for exemption may be low, in others high. Others too small, but the local boards will be instructed in every case to continue calling for men until the district quota is filled. Each state governor is allotted to his district their respective portions of the state's quota.

The Serial Numbers

In each of the 457 exemption districts, among which the 10,000 registrants are divided, the 10,000 registration cards have been divided, the cards have been given serial numbers. The number of registrants in each district varies from about 155 in the smallest to more than 10,000 in the largest. The serial numbers will be dealt with in the drawing, ranging from one to between nine and ten thousand.

In order to reduce the mechanical process to make it possible for the 10,000 numbers drawn to reach every man in every district, a so-called master key has been devised. This will be obtained by drawing slips from a bag to ten, which will be listed in the order they are drawn to form the key.

Then will begin the drawing of the numbers one to one thousand. The first district which will not more than one thousand registrants there will be no problem to determine the order of appearance before the exemption board. The number drawn first will fix the man whose card bears that serial number as the first to appear before the board. In the district with only 155 registrants, the 155 will be liable for appearance in the order in which their numbers are drawn, and when a number higher than that appears the district of course, will not be affected.

Application of Master Key

Application of the master key makes it possible to apply fairly each of the one thousand numbers drawn to districts with more than one thousand registrants. As a number is drawn it will be added to each of the thousands in excess of one thousand in each district.

For instance, if 25 is the first number drawn, it will represent 25; 1025; 2025; 3025; 4025; 5025; 6025; 7025; 8025; and 9025.

By applying the master key the order in which these numbers will be listed in each district will be determined. If the drawing of ten numerals for the key should result this way, 3, 7, 1, 5, 2, 2, 0, 8, 4, then the drawing of 25 as the first number of the thousand would fix the first man to appear before the exemption board in this order: 305; 7025; 1025; 5025; 2025; 305; 25; 5025; 4025 and 6025.

The district with more than 9000 registrants thus will have ten of its men assigned to their places at the head of its list, with 9025 on top. This district with less than 1000 men will have one number, 25, at the head of its list. The process will be continued until every man of the ten million has been assigned his place on the roster of his district.

Order of Examination

In his explanation of the process and of the reason for fixing the order of liability for all the men when only 687,000 men are needed, Gen. Crowder says:

THE ORDER OF EXAMINATION

"If we were dealing the ancient draft, we should take every 14th man in the first thousand would be called first, men in the second thousand next, and men with high serial numbers last of all.

Now no one knows how many men must be examined to yield 687,000 soldiers. Therefore, no one can say just how many men it is absolutely necessary to put on this list. The reflection will prove that the whole lot of million must be given their places on the Order of Examination. Every registered man is in a state of uncertainty. He does not know when he will be called. He hesitates to plan a crop for fear he will not reap. Employers hesitate to engage his services, fearing they will be but temporary. This condition ought to be cured for the repose of the public mind. It can be cured to some extent by putting every man on the list.

"For this reason the whole ten million names are to be given places on the list of order of examination."

The Segregation into Groups

"Obviously, no single agency could examine ten million men. Therefore, the ten million men are segregated into groups of suitable size for examination. There are 457 of these groups. For each group a board has been appointed to examine for selection. By far the greater number of these groups consist of approximately 3000 men.

"Since this is so, our problem is not to put the whole ten million names in one list arranged in the order of examination. It is to be determined the order of examination in each center.

The Necessity for Drawing

"Since all registered men stand in an equality of right and duty, the question of priority can only be determined by lot or drawing. It would be impossible to list 457 separate drawings—one for each group—since methods would vary and since supervision and absolute insurance against the charge of fraudulent manipulation could not be had in this way, every consideration of expediency and justice urges one drawing in Washington.

The Method for the Drawing

"In each group, every registration card has a red-inked number written on its face and the numbers run in a single series from unity (1) to the number corresponding to the greatest number of cards in the group. Ordinarily this is from unity (1) to about 3000.

"Exact copies of the cards in each group have been duplicated and sent to the various state capitols. Lists showing the name of each man in each group and the serial number of his card have been posted in the office of the board of the district. A copy of one copy is on file in Washington. There is, therefore, no chance of any man's number being changed without detection and any card being lost beyond replacement.

The Idea of the Central Drawing

"Suppose there were just 3000 names and numbers in every group. It is at once apparent that it would be impossible to list the names and numbers of every man in every group of every group of the whole ten million. Just as it is impossible to draw a bowl and draw them out one at a time. The first number drawn out would place the 457 cards bearing that particular number at the head of every list in the United States. The second number drawn would put the 457 cards bearing that number second on all the lists and so forth.

"Now, the thing cannot be done in precisely this way, because there are not precisely 3000 numbers in every group. But the same idea with a few necessary modifications is the idea on which the present drawing is based.

The Drawing by Serials

"To draw 10,000 separate numbers would take ten hours and would multiply the chance of error. Moreover, if the nine-thousands, the eight-thousands, the seven-thousands, and the six-thousands were scattered all over the master list indiscriminately, the cancellation by boards having small groups would be very tedious and would slow the way to numerous errors. All this is easily avoided.

"Suppose we draw only 1000 numbers. If the drawing of the number 578 would also draw the numbers 1578, 2578, 3578, 4578, 5578, 6578, 7578, 8578, and 9578.

"In that way only 1000 numbers need be drawn, and by making our list of 1000 numbers, we could provide a master list easily applicable to the lists with only 3000 numbers, since such boards could disregard all except the first three sheets.

"We should do this but for the fact that this makes it impossible to put men in the first thousand would be called first, men in the second thousand next, and men with high serial numbers last of all.

Now no one knows how many men must be examined to yield 687,000 soldiers. Therefore, no one can say just how many men it is absolutely necessary to put on this list. The reflection will prove that the whole lot of million must be given their places on the Order of Ex-determine the order in which the sheets of 1000 each should appear on the master list, instead of arbitrarily assigning the sheets of 1000 in their natural order. This reduces the whole matter to an absolute equality of chance.

The Details of the Drawing

"One group of numbers, from 1 to 1000 and a second group, from 1001 to 2000, have been carefully printed on cueque slips of paper, black on one side, counted and checked. These slips have been rolled up and each put inside a gelatine capsule with the black side out. To insure absolute accuracy of the capsules containing numbers from 1 to 1000 have been counted into ten glass jars in groups of 100 each; the glass jars have been sealed and kept in a safe awaiting the day of drawing.

"A blindfolded man will then draw capsules out one at a time. As each capsule is drawn it will be handed to an announcer, who will break the capsule and announce the number drawn. While he is announcing the number the second capsule will be drawn and handed to a second announcer, who will break the capsule and read the number. The drawing will proceed in this way until all the capsules are drawn.

"Three tally sheets will be kept. One keeper of a tally sheet will repeat each number as it is announced and all three will write it down. In case of disagreement between tally sheets on any number the sheets that agree will control.

"Immediately before the drawing of the numbers from 1 to 1000, the drawing of the numbers from 1001 to 2000 will take place to determine the order in which the thousands shall appear on the master list.

M'CALL'S SELECTION OF AMES CRITICIZED

Special to The Sun
BOSTON, July 19.—Henry F. Long, secretary to Gov. McCall, has issued a statement concerning a story printed in a Boston paper, under a Washington headline, in which Washington officials are quoted as expressing amazement that Gov. McCall should suggest Col. Butler Ames of Lowell for commanding officer of the New England troops in the National Guard.

Mr. Long says the governor suggested Col. Ames because of his education, experience and personal qualities which make him as well fitted as any other man in New England to command the New England troops. The governor regarded Col. Ames as a valuable military asset, and felt it his duty to call the attention of the war department to him.

He also calls attention to the fact that the governors of two other New England states, having the welfare of their own men at heart, joined in the recommendation.

Col. Ames's Statement
Col. Ames has also issued a statement pointing out that in New York and Pennsylvania, which states have more than 20,000 troops, the governor appoint division commanders for their respective states. The New England states together have 43,000 troops and the governors of those states should be allowed to select the commanding officer. Governors of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Connecticut have endorsed Col. Ames, while the governor of Vermont has requested that Col. Ames be appointed. If General Edwards is not available for the position, Col. Ames said he had no intention of embarrassing the war department by his candidacy.

"Does not consider that I am properly qualified by education, training or experience for such a command? I am certain it will act accordingly."

good statement as to the success of the campaign.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a meeting at city hall for the purpose of discussing the possibility and advisability of opening a public vegetable market in this city, and if the project goes through it is probable that the women in charge of the food conservation campaign will have charge of the market.

An invitation being extended to all men and women interested in such a movement and it is hoped the aldermanic chamber at city hall will be filled to its capacity. A speaker from out of town, who is in charge of a public market of this kind in his home city, will address the gathering and explain the benefits to be derived from such an undertaking. The plan is to have a large store somewhere in the center of the city, where farmers and garden truck producers from the city and surrounding towns will leave their goods every morning to be sold direct to the consumer. Producers are particularly invited to attend the meeting and give their views on the project. The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock and will be presided over by Mayor O'Donnell.

Why Glacier National Park is the Goal of Summer Tourists

Is it any wonder that this Park, set aside away up in Montana, has become the goal of out-of-door people all over the United States?

Is it strange that vacationists have turned to this scenic wonderland right over our midst? Those who have been there do not think of it as a vacation spot. Let me tell you of the vacation delights to be found in this ideal spot. The great blue forests, of the sixty living glaciers, the 250 clear lakes, the nesting like rare gems in this Rocky mountainland, of the sport to be had; fishing for trout or but we assure that Nature has lavished there with an unsparring hand.

"Accommodations are ideal. You can 'rough it' or stop at one of the famous mountain inns, chalets or camps. Your board and lodging will cost you from one to five dollars a day.

Send me your address on a postal, and I will gladly mail you booklets and maps giving full information, and explain how comfortable and economical the Burlington Railroad can take you there.

WOULD SEND U.S. FORCE TO RUSSIA

BOSTON, July 19.—Out of a discussion at a dinner attended last night at the Harvard club by commissioned officers of the New England cavalry organizations of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Hampshire came the prophecy that American troops would win the war and capture Berlin by co-operation with Russia in the eastern front.

It was the practically unanimous opinion of all present that America's best opportunity lies in the east. There is no submarine peril on the Pacific, it was pointed out, and unlimited troops and supplies can be transported to Vladivostok for shipment to the front, while many of the officers were skeptical as to the possibility of providing for more than a force of 250,000 men on the western front with submarine and tonnage conditions as they now are.

One plan which was suggested would provide for the inclusion of every company of American troops of at least five men familiar with the Russian language and conditions, the organization of a large body of cavalry to co-operate with the Cossacks, and the fitting out of American regiments with every facility that would make an appeal to the Russians, such as bands, flags, etc.

Would Go from Pacific Coast

This expeditionary force would then be transported from the Pacific coast and the details of railroad transportation in Russia would be looked after by American engineers headed by such an expert as John F. Stevens, now with the Root mission in Russia. With the military experience on the eastern front put into an efficient state, the belief was expressed that a successful campaign could be waged which would make impossible any such concentrated defense as the Germans have maintained on the western front.

The 5,000,000 man-power of the Russian army would be invincible under American officers and supplemented by American troops, according to the opinion of many of the officers, and with the French and English forcing drives on the western front the way to Berlin might be accomplished easily.

As guests at the dinner were Brig.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the northeastern department, Acting Adj.-Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, Lieut.-Col. F. C. Marshall and Maj. W. A. Roberts, the last two of the regiment and former officers of instruction of the New England cavalry organization.

In discussing the future of the cavalry, which he said he thought was a bright one, Brig.-Gen. Edwards declared that the war has sounded the death knell of the National Guard.

His ultimate failure has been self-evident for some time," he said, "with its dual system of control, its elective system of selecting officers and the inability to meet national needs.

State Control to Disappear

After the establishment of the national army the plan of state control will disappear, never to return. However, that some plan of maintaining state interest can be devised, such as the organization in the states of reserve regiments to act as feeders of the federal units. Say, for instance, that there is a regiment in the state, as the organization in the states, composed chiefly of Massachusetts troops. If there was maintained in Massachusetts a 20th reserve regiment to supply recruits for the active service and to take men who have graduated into the service from the federal regiment, I think that much good would come out of it.

Declaring that he was loath "to pull feathers from the eagle and cautious always of underestimating his enemy," nevertheless Gen. Edwards expressed the belief that any American regiment of regulars was superior to the best German body now in service. "I am absolutely sure that I could take over any American regiment of regulars and in 30 days they would be masters of any of the so-called 'specialties' of trench warfare and capable of beating the Germans at their own game," Gen. Edwards declared.

Other speakers were Col. R. L. Howes, Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, Maj. T. A. Roberts and Lieut.-Col. F. C. Marshall. Capt. Roger Wolcott of Massachusetts was elected president and Capt. Samuel A. Hall of Rhode Island secretary for the following year. The retiring president, Maj. John L. Howard, presided as toastmaster.

EXEMPTION BOARDS AND THEIR HEADQUARTERS

Quarters for the four local exemption boards have been found and as soon as the registration list and aerial numbers are received from Boston, due publication of the fact will be made and the names and numbers will be posted in conspicuous places, while the newspapers will be asked to print the lists. The members of the boards wish it known, however, that it is useless for anyone to pester them, the registrars or newspapers, until such time as all the necessary papers have been received.

The exemption boards and the quarters selected are as follows: District 1, for wards 1, 5 and 9; Headquarters in the office of Dr. Reardon J. Meigs, 226 Merrimack street, room 3. Board comprises Julian B. Keyes, George H. Taylor and Dr. Reardon J. Meigs. District 2, for wards 2 and 3; Headquarters in the room next to the council chamber at city hall. Board comprises George E. Marchand, John J. Hanlon and Dr. A. R. Gardner. District 3, for wards 4, 7 and 8; Headquarters, court house in Gorham street. Board comprises Judge Thomas

J. Enright, Joseph P. Donohoe and Dr. Pierre Brunelle. District 4, for ward 6; Headquarters, Greenhalge school, West Centralville. Board comprises Dr. G. O. Lavalley, Jas. J. Gallagher and John H. Beaulieu. District Nineteen Chelmsford, Tewksbury, Dracut, and other towns in the vicinity of Lowell, comprise district 19 under the draft and the exemption board for the district is composed of H. M. Billings, Tewksbury, chairman; Fred J. Crowley, Dracut, clerk, and Dr. B. R. Berwick, Methuen.

In the New York city directory, just published, Mr. Aaby leads the list and Mr. Zisko ends it.

U-BOAT BLOWN UP BY "WATER BOMB"

BROCKTON, July 18.—John Francis Dwyer, aged 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Dwyer of 419 Crescent street on a 24-hour furlough here yesterday, told friends a wonderful story of the escape of an American warship returning from France after escorting American troops across the Atlantic, and of the blowing up of a German submarine by a water bomb, one of the first, if not the first, to be used by the American navy.

Dwyer told friends here that on the return from France his ship sighted a U-boat in its wake, and the crew dropped overboard a water bomb. The United States ship then zig-zagged in such a manner as to make the line of pursuit of the submarine in the path of the water bomb. While this was being done, Dwyer declares, the submarine launched a torpedo, which came close to the American ship.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES

Automobile thieves are operating in Billerica as well as Lowell, and Tuesday night some one stole Dr. Nell K. Farhan's Maxwell from his garage in Colton street. The doctor used the machine in the early part of the evening. About 2:30 o'clock one of the neighbors heard the engine starting away, but paid no further attention to the matter, thinking at the time that the doctor had been summoned out on a sick call. The matter was reported to the police.

THE SPELLBINDER

Now don't mistake those new waste paper boxes along the principal streets for letter boxes and deposit letters in them, for the health department employees who collect the contents of the new receptacles will not be expected to look them over for misplaced letters. The boxes have been in place but a few days, although they have been agitated for over a year, but already cases have been heard of in which the boxes have been mistaken for letter boxes. They are about the size of a letter box and are placed on trolley and other poles along the principal streets far enough above the ground to be within easy reach of a person of ordinary height. They are an improvement, over the big, unsightly tubs that formerly did duty about the street corners though they cannot be used as receptacles for decayed fruit, boxes or many of the other articles that found their way into the tubs and they can't be overturned or rummaged by inquisitive youngsters. When the question of installing these boxes was under consideration the street department had offers from different concerns that would install the receptacles if given the privilege of placing advertising upon them. Happily this scheme was not accepted for undoubtedly it would have met with objection from the people who desire a city beautiful, and somewhere in Lowell there exists a city beautiful committee, even as there exists a city planning board.

The Poor Conductor

The man most deserving of sympathy these hot days is the poor street car conductor, who is trying to successfully operate his car under the new electric fare system and keep cool, mentally and physically. And of him, the unfortunate who is assigned to a prepayment car has the worst lot of all. On Sunday 33 foreigners boarded a car at Dracut Centre, each with a nickel in his hand—that is, they attempted to board it, but the conductor took up his stand in the entrance to the car and assuming an "enter-over-my-dead-body" attitude, started to explain the change in rates. It took him 12 minutes to extract the extra 35 pennies from the crowd, but they all had to give up, and while the car was late in reaching Northbrook square, the register of the conductor's conduct was agreed to the cent. The conductors on the Lawrence line are confronted with a question that they find difficult to answer, for the public desires to know why it is that one can ride from Lawrence to Lowell, six cents cheaper than from Lowell to Lawrence. It's a fact, however, that you can come from Lawrence for less money than you are obliged to pay to get there. It may be a scheme on the part of the board of trade to get Lawrence people to come to a regular city, or it may be a bungling transfer system on the part of the street railway company.

Many are vigorously protesting because they cannot use the five-cent tickets on Sunday, but it has been suggested for the benefit of these people that they might try to get in the poor boxes on the Sabbath.

Nominations Papers Arrive

In midsummer we are reminded of the approach of the fall political campaign by the arrival at the city clerk's office of the blank nomination papers for candidates to be balloted for the city and town officers. The filing with the local registrars nominations for officers to be balloted for at the state primaries expires on Aug. 17, one month hence, and with the secretary of state on Aug. 21. Within a few weeks the candidates will be going the rounds, seeking signatures on their papers.

A Hasty Rent Collector

But for the fact that Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson, investigator for the local committee on public safety is "on the working on Sunday in a good cause, we might have chronicled in Tuesday's newspapers the deplorable instance of a young wife and baby of a soldier being evicted from a tenement because the mother owed one week's rent, a matter of about $3. The husband left home a short time ago to enlist and the wife did not apply for aid until within a few days Mrs. Pearson arrived at her home on Sunday and found her in great mental distress because the rent collector had informed her that unless he had the money on Monday morning he would evict her on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Pearson got busy right away and managed to get the money by Tuesday. The rent collector was sent to the woman by Treasurer Chadwick, the mayor's office called up the energetic agent and addressed a few choice remarks to that gentleman who, however, was owed a week's rent and as her husband had gone away he couldn't see where the future rent was to come from. The property is owned by Lawrence woman and a local man acts as her agent. Suffice to state the family will not be evicted.

The School Building Controversy

The fact that State Inspector MacDonald spent Monday in town, riding about with Building Inspector Connor caused many to believe that the state official was renewing his activity to compel Commissioner Warnock to carry out the changes in the different school buildings as ordered by the state police. But the two officials were on different missions, that of inspecting some new buildings that are going up in town, for all buildings having eight rooms above the second story come under the jurisdiction of the state police and the state inspector must O. K. their construction before they are completed, the state police giving particular attention to means of egress in case of fire.

But the controversy between the state official and the local commissioner is still smoldering and is likely to break out at any time, provided the building department has not done a sufficient amount of work to please the state authorities. Warnock this year was given an unusually large appropriation of $63,000, against $55,000, one year ago. To that amount the commissioner ordered the year 1917 with $7000 left over from last year's special appropriation. For the school house repairs ordered by the state, State Inspector MacDonald apparently believes that the local department is not moving fast enough and has called upon Commissioner Warnock to show him what has been done. Com. Warnock has done most of the minor work ordered but on the more formidable changes has done practically nothing except to place fire escapes on the Colburn high school, and in this case the fire escapes have been installed, the windows opening upon them have not as yet been lowered so as to make egress easy, and it is on this matter of egress in case of fire that the state is most particularly fussy. Fire escapes will be comparatively little value to small children if they are obliged to climb over high window-sills to reach them. A record of the work done in the department in the past two years will show that Commissioner Donnelly on his smaller appropriation did as much work in the month of June as in the year, as the present commissioner has done on his larger amount of spending money. The building department should hustle throughout the time remaining before the opening of school to get as much of the school house work completed as is possible, and not delay it until after the summer has been resumed. Undoubtedly, if the commissioner needs more money to complete the changes recommended by the state police, the municipal council wants to see the work pushed until the present appropriation is spent before more is appropriated.

Girls! MAKE A BEAUTY LOTION WITH LEMONS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan, and is an ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier. Just try it. Get three ounces of two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweet, fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smoothen rough, red hands.

A Public Vegetable Market

The ripening of the crops brings the country to the second phase of the great food problem that has confronted it since the beginning of the war; that of distribution, the primary phase being production. In the spring patriotic appeals were made to the farmers to produce more food and the farmers have responded splendidly. The farmer did his bit in increased acreage or more intensively cultivated land and instead of a shortage of fruit and vegetables bumper crops are expected. Now comes the question of disposing of the crops to best advantage and the city of Lowell is one of the first to take up the matter of a public open-air vegetable market for the purpose of placing on sale the products of the vegetable and fruit farms of Lowell and its immediate neighborhood. Mayor O'Donnell, at the request of Mrs. Butler Ames, who is a member of the local committee on food conservation, has called a public meeting of all citizens interested in establishing a public vegetable market to be held in the auditorium chamber in city hall on tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Ames visited the city of Quincy during the week and carefully observed the operation of the public vegetable market recently opened in that city. She returned filled with enthusiasm over the project and immediately communicated with the city committee, which agreed to assist in promoting the movement. On invitation of Mrs. Ames, Mr. Merriam, the manager of the market in Quincy, has volunteered to come to Lowell and explain the operation of his market and give whatever information he can to the citizens of Lowell. The different cities of New York state have taken up the matter quite elaborately and markets conducted on an extensive scale are financed by popular subscription. In Lowell, however, it is believed that an open-air market can be established where the truck-farmers and market-gardeners can bring and display their products, without the necessity of paying to any unusual expense. Friday evening's meeting is for the two-fold purpose of that the farmers in the city project so that they will come into market with their produce and to interest the people of the city in the advantages of such an institution as the vegetable market. It is dependent upon the country and the gardens. If food production is not increased, it is believed that the market will be of little use. It is through wasteful or expensive changes, if the farmer is not encouraged to increase production, the city pays in high prices for food. The local market saves waste by giving the neighboring farmer a market for his goods at a fair price. It assists the small farmer whose product is not great enough to warrant him in traveling to the city, sending it to markets at a distance. It gives local people who have labored hard during their leisure hours to disperse their surplus produce, and they may have with no expense for transportation. It gets the product to the consumer fresh-picked before spoilage has had time to set in, and it saves the expense of railroad transportation out of the cost of food, and when the idea has been developed and taken up generally, it will relieve the city of the financial burden of the market, which are needed for the service of the government. It will tend to make the city as nearly independent from an outside market as possible. The city will not have to depend upon the importations of such articles of food. It may yet be the beginning of the public market which Lowell voted for some time ago and which Rep. Murphy provided for by legislative act but which hasn't materialized as yet. The present project, however, has nothing whatever to do with the previous agitation for a public market in Lowell, but is an advanced idea brought to light by the food problem in connection with the war, and it has proven to be a most practical one in other cities in which it has been tried.

Mr. Ramsay Took The Plant Juice

A Lowell Man Relates How the New Remedy Restored Him to Health

That Plant Juice is repeating its success here is proven every day by the large number of local testimonials received from people in signed statements, telling of the great benefit they have received. Recently, Mr. Benjamin Ramsay, who resides at No. 29 Exeter street, and has a wide acquaintance in Lowell, where he has lived for a number of years, gave the following: "I have been troubled for years with my stomach; my food fermented and caused gas and form; I could not sleep at night on account of the pain I suffered, and was bloated and in constant misery. My food would lie in a lump in the pit of my stomach. I was badly constipated, had headaches, and terrible pains in my back. I was not able to eat meat or vegetables; was always tired out and had no ambition or energy to do anything. I finally started to take Plant Juice and now am feeling like a new man. I can eat all of my meals, sleep fine, and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. I have no more pains, and am able to eat meat or vegetables which I had not done for months; I feel rested and refreshed in the morning and able to do my work. I am glad to endorse Plant Juice for it has completely relieved my stomach trouble."

Plant Juice is a vegetable preparation, extracted from the roots, herbs, barks and berries of numerous medicinal plants. It is nature's own remedy and works wonders. It gives almost immediate benefit and leads to permanent relief in practically every case where people suffer as above outlined.

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children? Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about. Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

S. J. Briggs & Co., of Providence, R. I., say: "We have sold Fletcher's Castoria in our three stores for the past twenty years and consider it one of the best preparations on the market."

Manur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y., say: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

SIXTH REGIMENT GOES TO AYER

FRAMINGHAM, July 19.—Col. Warren E. Sweetser, of the 6th Mass. Infantry, today received orders from headquarters of the northeastern department to break camp here and march over the road to Ayer Friday or Saturday. Col. Sweetser has been ordered to Ayer, as he has had in his command several orders to move on Friday, some of which have been on the 13th of the month.

The order is disappointing to the regiment, the opinion prevailing that once in Ayer it will remain there until peace is declared guarding federal property, and its officers employed as instructors for the conscripts. The men looked for an early assignment to join Gen. Pershing in France, or at least go to Charlotte, S. C. They say the regiment was "hoodwinked" last year when it was left at home while the other infantry regiments went to the Mexican border, and they feel blue.

They are, however, good soldiers, none better in the state—and orders are orders.

Col. Sweetser, with several of his staff, will start bright and early Saturday morning, leaving for the 27 miles in three days, with two nights of bivouac. He will endeavor to find the first place where he can stay, the second at Littleton. The change of base will cost the government and the regiment considerable money, the men having installed many conveniences here at their own expense, thinking that they would be here for some time.

Only Tuesday Capt. Henry W. Wheelock, supply officer, had carted over the road from Boston more than 20 tons of rations and supplies. These were placed in the storehouse yesterday, but early today they must be taken out again, to be sent to Ayer ahead of the regiment.

Yesterday the faculty of the Y.M.C.A. of Springfield delivered a lecture to the regiment on "Physical Training and Hygiene."

A quite different feeling reigned in

You need not hate your sweater after it is washed!

It can be washed so that it will not shrink—so that it will not be humpy where it should be flat, and flat where it should be full.

It is alkali and rubbing that make the wool fibers twist and tangle—make the material shrink and mat.

Wash it this way!

Wash your sweater the Lux way. Lux has no free alkali, and the creamy lather loosens the dirt without a bit of rubbing.

Try it on the "grimy" sweater that hangs in the closet—you won't wear it until it's cleaned and you have been afraid to wash it.

Wear every day, the sweater for which you just paid the cleaner so much. Don't be afraid of its getting soiled. When it does, pop it into a Lux bath—and it is new again!

Order Lux from your grocer or from any department store. It will not harm anything that pure water alone will not injure. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

LUX

Won't shrink Woolens!

No shrunken armholes—no ugly, drawn lines across your shoulders and hips! But—the same charming shape, the same woolly softness as when they were new.

How to wash your sweater

For white woolen sweaters, whisk the Lux flakes into a lather in boiling or very hot water. Put in your sweater and let it soak until the water is comfortable for the hands. Then work it about in the suds, but do not rub. Rinse in three waters the same temperature as that in which you washed it. Dissolve a little Lux in the last rinsing water; this leaves the sweater softer and fluffier. Do not hang up to dry. Spread on a bath towel and dry in the sun. For colored sweaters, the water should be cooler and they should be dried in the shade.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Frank P. Lappan was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on complaints charging him with operating an automobile which had not been registered and also operating an automobile without having a proper license but after the fact had been brought out and on recommendation of Deputy Downey the complaints were placed on file.

The trial of the case brought out facts which were not brought out when the complaint was issued. Mr. Lappan is a mechanic and understands automobiles. During the latter part of last year he met with an accident and was incapacitated for several months and fell behind in the payment of his rent. He has a wife and five children and to help him out the owner of an automobile gave him a machine to overhaul and put in shape and he was to get all over a certain stated amount that he could sell the machine for.

The landlord learning that Mr. Lappan had an automobile attached the machine, but subsequently the real owner of the machine threatened to sue the landlord for $500 for attaching his property and then a dealer was made Mr. Lappan's landlord to purchase the machine. Mr. Lappan took the landlord out to demonstrate the good qualities of the automobile on July 9, going up the Mammoth road and back again and the dealer was badly injured here yesterday afternoon when he was run over by a large New York touring car. The little fellow was in the court-room in which the distracted mother faces the man whose devotion to her son has won her love, and she tries to save the man whose infidelity brought pain and grief upon her head.

Fifteen farmers living near Turpin, Mo., have pledged themselves to sow an acre of wheat this fall, the proceeds from which shall be given to the Red Cross. Farmers throughout the township are being urged to make a similar pledge. The local chapter of the Red Cross will furnish the seed.

Made of patent leather, gun metal, Russia calf and white canvas. These shoes come from one reliable maker of welted sewed sole shoes with or without low heel.

In this line in Lowell as yet. He told Corp. George Crowell, the local recruiting officer, that this station must send an average of four men a day to the front in order to fulfill the quota assigned it.

Bakers Wanted
As stated in The Sun several weeks ago, the local regular army recruiting officers are on the lookout for young men who have had some experience in the baking line or who would like to become proficient in that line. Since then the officers have received orders to recruit for additional baking companies which are about to be organized and the instructions are as follows:

The quartermaster general has been directed to organize at once 40 bakery companies in addition to the ten companies now within the continental limits of the United States.

These companies will be numbered from No. 1 to 25, Nos. 5 and 6 are in Honolulu and the Philippine Islands. The personnel of these companies will consist of:

1—First Lieutenant.
1—Second lieutenant.
1—Sergeant, first class $51 per month.
23—Sergeants, $44 per month.
15—Corporals, $38 per month.
15—Privates, first class, $33 per month.
15—Privates, $30 per month.
2—Cook, $30 per month.

In addition the government furnishes food, lodging and clothing.

The equipment consists of the army field bakery No. 1 oven with equipment. One of these ovens with equipment is designated as a unit, and is so equipped that it is a field bakery complete in itself with a personnel of six men capable of supplying 1500 men per day with bread.

Fifteen (15) of these units constitute a bakery company and the company has a capacity of 40,000 pounds of bread per day.

This is an opportunity for strong and energetic young men to learn a trade. Men who volunteer now will have an excellent opportunity for promotion. There are about 500 vacancies in the grade of sergeant baker and 600 in the grade of corporal to be filled by the most capable men.

In addition to this there will be vacancies in the grade of first and second lieutenant for experienced bakers with the necessary educational qualifications. A young man with a good high school education stands a good chance to enlist, learn the bakers trade, and place himself in line for promotion to the grade of non-commissioned officer and commissioned officer. Why not enlist now for one of these companies.

You have an opportunity for service abroad and a good chance for promotion.

The quartermaster general has decided to offer the commissions in these companies to deserving men from the ranks.

Joyes for Commander
Major Walter H. Joyes, formerly

captain of Co. G of the Sixth regiment and now commander of Co. 57, the business men's unit, has been suggested to Gov. McCall as an officer capable of commanding a battalion of the new State Guard. The Lowell officer has had abundant experience in the military game, and it is wholly probable that the governor will act favorably on the suggestion of his appointment.

Last night Maj. Joyes announced the names of the men whom he has appointed non-commissioned officers of Co. 57, as follows:

First sergeant, William D. Edney; supply sergeant, Loring E. Kew; sergeants, Edward W. Daly, Harry Drury, Lewis B. MacBrayne and Robert Marden; corporals, E. T. Goward, Albert A. Ludwig, William Rawlinson, Oliver Stevens, Orrin H. Webster, Fred C. Weld, Royal P. White and Harry Putnam; cooks, John Pilling and Albert Parsons; musicians, Louis Munroe and William Price; artificer, Louis Bushbaum.

Co. 50, the Spanish war veterans' company, held a well attended drill at the armory last evening.

REFRIGERATORS

Our Refrigerators are second to none in both quality and workmanship and are made in three grades.

Cambia Refrigerators

Cambia Refrigerators made in two styles, the one being lined with the celebrated "Porceloid" and the other with galvanized iron. The racks are all iron, riveted together and are strong and durable. The shelves are woven wire trimmed. For a low priced good looking refrigerator the "Cambia" has no equal. The insulation is chargeal sheathing with a positive dead air space. Food compartment has lock and key.

Marbolite Refrigerators

MARBOLITE refrigerators are made with double wall or cases, with charcoal sheathing, especially prepared felt, mineral wool and a dead air space, between these walls. This insulation has proved itself the best that ever was put into a refrigerator. To the inner case is tacked with staples expanded steel lath of a fine mesh. This covers the whole provision chamber and in this lath is plastered "Marbolite." This lath holds the "Marbolite" so that it is impossible for it to crack or come off. With this combination it has been proven that it will stand the wear longer than straw lined boxes.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Our esteemed neighbor, the Courier-Citizen, has had some very sensible editorials on the Irish question during the past year, but in dealing with the result of the Clare election, the editor appears to assume that the present unsettled political conditions are merely a manifestation of some inherent quality of unrest peculiar to the Irish people.

For nearly twenty years Ireland went along with as much unanimity as could be expected anywhere, under the guidance of the parliamentary party. During that period more substantial reforms were secured than were ever won by all the other leaders from the days of Grattan. It is unnecessary here to name the long list of measures enacted for expropriating the landlords, improving the educational system, dividing up the great pasture lands for the people, securing old age pensions and clearing the way for home rule.

The Irish party succeeded in placing upon the statute books a home rule measure better than Grattan's constitution, better than either of the measures offered by Gladstone and accepted by Mr. Parnell; and better in some respects than the constitution of Massachusetts. It is true that it is misrepresented by a horde of sinister influences with the sole purpose of making trouble for England and stirring up a rebellion in Ireland.

The British government, not Ireland, is responsible for the present change in political sentiment in Ireland, as indicated by recent elections. The government's punitive treatment of the Sinn Féin rebellion, even though it did have a German aspect, was altogether too severe. Then, to make a bad matter worse, the ministry openly, deliberately and in the basest manner, betrayed Mr. Redmond, who had placed confidence in England's promises to put the home rule act in force. This and placing Bonar Law and Mr. Carson, the two leading Unionists, in the cabinet, brought to the ranks of the Irish rebels some of the peaceful men who had patiently followed the struggles of the parliamentary party for thirty years.

England is now very anxious to see the question settled by a decent measure of home rule; and in the meantime, it is not well to judge of Irish sentiment by the expressions of ultra radicals, avowed rebels or political maliffs. The masses of the people are keeping discreetly silent, knowing that the situation has changed since the United States and England have made common cause in the war, and that any attempt to harass England at the present time would be likely to alienate the sympathy of strong American friends, including President Wilson, who has already impressed upon British statesmen the wisdom of settling that question as soon as possible.

EMBARGO WILL HIT HARD

There is increasing evidence that President Wilson's proposed embargo upon American food shipments came none too soon. Indeed, it came too late by many months. The amount of supplies being delivered to Germany by Denmark and Holland is simply amazing. Denmark is supposed to be neutral, but she is under the paw of the Prussian tiger and evidently proving a faithful purveyor.

Danish cocoa imports have been over 50,000 tons during the war, while the yearly home consumption was 1000 tons. Ten million pounds went from this country to Denmark in 1916 alone. Of course, the great excess imported went to Germany.

Not only is it a valuable and sustaining food, but German chemists have been able to extract fat needed for explosives.

The imports of such things as bacon, lard, oleo oil, cotton seed cake and linseed increased in some cases 72 times over the normal ante-war importation. The excess went to Germany.

Cattle are said to be going steadily to Germany at the rate of $800 to 10,000 head a week. They were fattened on fodder, every pound of which was imported. A special train, called the milk train, is said to leave Copenhagen every morning for Berlin. Fish and eggs are sent in great quantities. The Germans have had the pick of the Danish horses.

And, final suspicious circumstance—the ships of the big Danish Shipping Co. between this country and Copenhagen have been absolutely immune from submarine attacks.

Those ships carried food for Denmark, and a goodly portion was transhipped to Germany.

The Wilson embargo will stop this. When they realize what they are facing, the Danes will make haste to keep every pound of food at home. German soldiers will come to eat not only American food, but Danish food also.

The same treatment will be dealt out to Holland and Sweden, both of which have been helping Germany to meet the necessities of the war. The wonder is where Germany found the money to purchase all the stuff.

"BACK" CENTRAL STREET

That part of Central street usually known as "Back" Central street is in very great need of paving. This need has existed for at least ten years, apparently without appealing to the ## official heads of the street department as a "worthy case."

Owing to the rough condition of this street at present, the automobiles and vehicles of all kinds avoid it. The thumping over the big cobblestones and the many ruts and hollows is neither a safe nor a pleasant sensation. It is destructive to all kinds of vehicles.

Gorham street is much too narrow for the traffic thrown upon it during the past few years. If the part of Central street from Davis square to Tower's corner were smooth paved, it would greatly relieve the congestion on Gorham street. It would thus become a favorite route inward and outward for visiting motorists. It would pay the city to incur the expense of cutting the hill leading to Hoxford square and raising the grade from Tyler street to Union street. This job might be expensive, but it would certainly pay in the long run. In the interests of the city and the taxpayers both on Gorham and "Back" Central streets, this thoroughfare should be regraded and smoothed paved without further delay. There is positively no other street of equal importance in Lowell that has been so badly neglected.

SOMETHING MUST BREAK

We are certainly in a bad predicament in regard to wilful "hold-ups" in the conduct of the war. The senators through what appears to be a mercenary spirit are holding up the food bill and to a great extent nullifying its main purpose by delay. The bill is attacked, and Mr. Hoover, the food administrator, is attacked—all apparently for the purpose of delay.

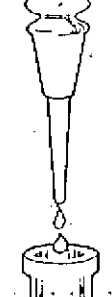

Colonel Goethals, head of the Emergency Fleet corporation, and Chairman Denman, of the shipping board, are deadlocked on the question of authority on the plans of the ships, and the contracts. If Goethals is so overpoweringly great that he cannot sit down with other men and let them know what he is going to do with this $750,000,000 better get rid of him. There are others who may be able to do the job quite as well. Let him go back to await the next slide in the canal.

Not only is the food supply this year greatly increased in this country but the supply of fuel also. The output of the soft coal for the first six months of the year shows a total of 270,000,000 tons or 20,000,000 tons more than for the same period last year. There was a corresponding increase in the anthracite coal mined. What is equally good news, arrangements are made to ensure its transportation to the points needed all over the country.

The German senators are holding up the food bill to the extreme limit. When the cloture silences them on that issue they will start in to oppose the aviation measure. The filibuster is being revived. The "wilful" senators are still fighting against the interests of the nation.

Not a Corn or
Callus on Feet

Apply few drops; then lift them off without pain.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it frezone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents.

You simply apply a few drops of frezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying frezone or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep frezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice.

The story is told in Detroit, writes Fred Kelly in Colliers, of a Smart Aleck employed in the Ford plant who chanced to pass Henry Ford himself in a corridor of the big factory, and said in an undertone, for the benefit of another boy: "Howdy, Hank!"—not intending that Ford should hear him.

But there was a lull in the noise of the machinery right at that moment, and Ford did hear him.

What did Ford do to the fresh youngster for calling him Hank?

Waved his hand at him pleasantly and replied: "Hello, son."

Looking For Mascot

Have you a hollow-horned ruminant of the genus "cupra" lying somewhere around the house? No, it's not a disease. It's a goat. Not the kind you lose when things go wrong, but a real, live, fur-bearing, milk-giving animal with a pronounced and accelerated forward tendency toward anything that doesn't strike his fancy. If you have, the boys of Company E, Engineers corps, at Rockingham park, will be delighted to hear from you. They're looking for a mascot and refuse to accept anything but a goat. They have all kinds of cats and dogs in camp, but will not promote any of them to the rank of official mascot.

Not Jarred By War

President Wilson, the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American informs us, has not been jarred by the war. In health he never was better. He is up to date on his mail and appears less worried than at any time since he assumed the presidency. He gets up at 6 every morning and goes for a horseback ride with Mrs. Wilson. By 8:30 he has had breakfast and is ready for his mail.

The president has not given up golf. About every third day he goes to the Washington club and plays 11 holes. About three evenings in the week the president goes out. One of these is sure to find him at the local vaudeville theatre, and another at some other theatre where there is a non-serious attraction. The serious in dramatic does not appeal to Mr. Wilson. He takes his serious drama from real life.

Heir Lore of Salmon

The call of the boiled salmon is stronger than that of the boiled shirt. As the result, more than 55 of Spokane's China boys have departed during the last two months for Alaska to work in canning plants, says the Spokane Chronicle.

Today Spokane has but four Chinese laundries left, six having closed their doors. Pay in the canning plants of Alaska is better than in the laundries here.

"I no do fambly wash no more," said Sing Wah, proprietor of one of the remaining wash houses. Sing decided he had but six laundries left and that any people who wanted him to wash for them would have to bring their clothes down to his laundry.

Chinese laundrymen work 12 hours a day for $2.50 to $4, depending upon the ability of the workman, while in Alaska the pay is said to be about $6.

That Troublesome "H"

A certain English foreman in one of the Kensington textile factories is in the habit of having an apprentice heat his luncheon for him. The other day he called a new apprentice.

"Go down stairs and eat up my lunch for me," ordered the foreman.

The boy—a local young man, named, with no knowledge of cockney English —obeyed with alacrity. He was hungry.

Ten minutes later the foreman came down. He also was hungry.

"Where's my lunch?" he demanded.

The boy—gazed at him in amazement.

"You told me to eat it up—and I ate it," he stated.

"I didn't tell you to heat it up!" roared the irate foreman. "I told you to eat it up."

"Well, I didn't heat it up," maintained the youngster, stoutly. "I ate it cold."—Youth's Companion.

The Ship-Builder

They that go down to the sea in ships, They shall bring peace at last— Peace through food for the hungering lips.

Peace through the far-sent armies vast; They that go down to the sea in ships, They shall bring peace at last.

But the ships to bear them over the sea, Ships enough and to spare For the death-down track where the sailors be.

The vipers that kill in the darkness there— Where are the ships that shall sail to The world from its blood-red care?

As the statue hid in the stone they stand, Deep-hid in the oak and steel, Waiting for craftsmen of cunning To fashion them, rib and keel, Till the myriad builders, band on band, Shall the land-locked fleet unseal.

So arm ye, who may not bleed in France, With tongs and hammers and saws: These be your weapons—aye, these your lance.

To break in the holy cause, For they that go down to the sea in ships, With food for the gasping, hungering lips, With armies that cry for a squadron vast, These shall bring peace at last.

—By M. A. DeWolfe Howe.

THE JITNEY HERE AND IN LAWRENCE

The jitney problem is causing much more trouble in Lawrence than Lowell people are aware of. Complaints against the situation existing in this city at present—the refusal of the municipal council to allow the jitney owners to engage in their trade without furnishing a bond—are constantly pointing out Lawrence as an example of a place where the jitneys are running without their owners furnishing a bond. They cannot understand why all adopted the state ordinance for the downriver residents should be able to have the jitney accommodations that are denied Lowell. But there has been a new turn of affairs in Lawrence and it is doubtful whether the "jit" operators will be allowed to ply their trade without a bond. When the Lawrence city council passed an ordinance last December providing for the licensing of jitneys there was no mention in said ordinance of any bonds. It has been discovered by some of the legal lights of Springfield that the ordinance was taken from a statute passed by the state legislature in 1915, but this statute provided that the licensees should furnish a bond for the protection of persons who might be injured in accidents in which jitneys took part. When the Lawrence council adopted the state ordinance for their own city, however, they failed to include the most essential part of the statute—that the operators should furnish bonds. Therefore, it is argued that the Lawrence ordinance is at present unconstitutional and that the city has no right to enforce any of the rules which it embraces. This would allow the jitney owners to run wild and not have to pay even a license fee. The matter is to be decided at an early date, and this decision together with the result of the Lowell meeting next Tuesday evening should straighten out matters a little in regard to the jitney question.

BELIEVES EXTRADITION OF COCCHI IMPOSSIBLE

ROME, July 18.—Joseph W. Grigg, who has been representing Police Commissioner Woods of New York in the Cocchi murder case, has come to the conclusion that unless unforeseen circumstances arise between Italy and the United States extradition of the slayer of Ruth Cruger is impossible. Mr. Grigg has made an exhaustive investigation of the extradition question which has become a difficult one, because there is no proof that Cocchi is an American citizen.

Bramwell, W. Va., has a population of less than 1000, yet they subscribed for $2,450,500 of Liberty Bonds and more than $10,000 for the Red Cross. This is believed to be the largest per capita subscription in the country. Bramwell has total bank deposits of $675,000, which is no doubt the largest per capita deposits in the United States, the average for the town being $6750 per man, woman and child.

MUSICAL ATTRACTION TOMORROW NIGHT

The second entertainment of a series of three, which comprises the grand Lowell dancing carnival of 1917 is in the nature of a musical treat in which appear only girls; hence the designation—"The All-Girl Show" which, by the way, is attracting the attention of the music lovers of Lowell and vicinity. If interest in the affair can be taken as a guarantee as to the size of the crowd which will be in evidence at the Casino tomorrow night, that amusement resort will be filled to capacity. Arrangements have been made to accommodate a record crowd at this fun fest tomorrow night, which being out-does in a high and open section of the city will be all the more inviting.

The All-Girl show will consist of many of the latest and best musical hits of the season, rendered by young ladies who are noted throughout this section of the country for their exceptional voices and musical training. The selections on the musical program include a number of new songs which will be introduced in Lowell for the first time. Dancing acts of rare merit and difficult of execution also form an important part of the program, as well as some patriotic numbers and others which reflect loyalty to the city.

For three reasons, especially, the All-Girl show commends itself to the public. It represents the utmost in refinement, every selection to be offered and every member on the program reflects excellent taste and careful choice on the part of Mr. Edward F. Quinn, of this city, who is staging the mammoth event which is the biggest of its kind ever to be put on in New England. The second reason why this entertainment should be welcome is the high quality of talent of the entertainers who have a reputation singly and severally of being most successful in events of this kind; and the third reason for attending is the absolute comfort which the spacious, centrally located Casino affords. All free dancing will be indulged in from the time of the finale of the concert to midnight.

So extensive are precautions taken by railroads that link Argentina and Chile by climbing the Andes, which have the steepest grades in the world, that not a fatal accident has happened since those roads were opened in 1910.

There are four active candidates in the field for the position so far as is known, and a Mr. Hanson of New London, Conn., who is the principal one of the large grammar schools of that city, is said to be a candidate, al-

CANDIDATES FOR HIGH SCHOOL MASTER

No definite developments in regard to the matter of selecting a successor to the late Cyrus W. Irish as principal of the local high school have occurred as yet. Two members of the school board, Dr. John H. Lambert, the chairman, and John C. Leggat, are both out of town, and will not return until the first of next month.

The other three members, Messrs. Calise, Keyes and Walsh, state that there will be no action taken until the passing members return. The next regular meeting of the school board is scheduled for Tuesday evening, July 21, but whether any action will be taken then is uncertain as yet. There has been some talk as to the necessity of appointing a principal as early as possible in order that he may make plans for the coming school year, but the committeemen are disinclined to take this view of the situation. At present the organization of the school is being handled by Supt. Hugh Molloy and the teachers of the school, and this arrangement will continue until a successor is appointed.

LOWELL MEN IN RECOUNT VOTE

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 19.—Lowell's delegation to the constitutional convention voted 4 to 1 yesterday afternoon in favor of ordering a recount of the votes cast for delegates-at-large in the convention, but the proposition was defeated by a vote of 105 to 154.

Delegates Smith J. Adams, John W. Daly, Patrick F. Neeter and John J. O'Connell voted for the recount, while Delegate William H. Wilson voted against it. Delegates Maurice J. Duff of Bitterton, Edward Fisher of Westford and Edward J. Robbins of Chelmsford all voted in the negative.

Delegates Henry V. Charbonneau, Peter Daley and Hamlet S. Greenwood were not recorded.

The recount was asked for on behalf of Patrick H. Jennings of Boston, who appeared on the original returns to have been elected. A tabulation by the governor's council, however, reported Jennings and gave his place to Arthur D. Hill of Boston, but errors were discovered in this tabulation, and a second effort by the governor's council resulted in the substitution of Chas. P. Choate, Jr., of Southboro' in place of Hill, and still leaving Jennings outside the circle. Labor leaders in the convention contended that so much jockeying of the returns had caused many persons to believe that there was something "irregular" about the counting of the ballots.

Mr. Choate favored the recount, declaring that no delegate should sit in the convention if there was the slightest doubt as to his right to hold a seat.

Mr. Dean of Fall River, on behalf of the majority of the committee on elections, said there is no doubt whatever as to Mr. Choate's right to hold the seat. He said the committee had carefully canvassed the returns made by the city and town clerks, and after eliminating all the errors made by the clerks' council, found that Mr. Choate led Mr. Jennings by more than 1600 votes.

No other business of importance was done yesterday. The constitutional convention voted to begin today its sessions in committee of the whole, to discuss the many reports filed by committees, all of which, under the rules, are automatically referred to the convention sitting in committee of the whole.

RUSH UP PRICE ON BOOZE

Higher prices for everything have been in order for a long time and since the outbreak of the war almost every day announcement is made of an increase in the price of some commodity. Now it is an increase in the price of intoxicating liquors.

As a result of a meeting of the local dealers during the early part of the week the prices went up on bottled goods this morning. Heretofore half pints of whiskey that sold for 25 cents are now selling for 35 cents, 50 cent pints have gone up to 65 cents and quarts which formerly sold for $1 are now retailing at $1.25.

Next Monday the bump will come, however, for a glass of whiskey which is being sold over the bar for 10 cents at the present time will cost 15 cents per copy and there will not be any two drinks for a quarter.

20 cent brandy which will go up to 25 cents and the cheapest brandy will retail for 20 cents a drink.

Dealers claim that despite the fact that repeated taxes have been imposed and the price of liquors and beers have gone up it was not until now that the consumer has felt the increase. Gin is scarce as is also brandy and other liquors.

DRAFT ESTIMATES BASED ON FACTS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—In response to Senator Brandegee's resolution calling for an explanation of the census bureau's population estimates to establish quotas for the forthcoming army draft, Secretary Redfield today submitted a report to the senate showing that the estimates were based upon actual registration figures in each state and sub-division.

He pointed out that the large estimates for certain localities, particularly industrial centers, was accounted for by the abnormal gathering of men of draft age at those places for work in munitions plants.

ASK U.S. TO TAKE PART IN ALLIED CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The Massachusetts delegation in the house today boasted of more recruits from its state than any other of the 48 states. Out of 15 offices nine clerks or secretaries have enlisted.

Draft Tomorrow at 9.30

WORLD AWAITS SPEECH OF GERMAN CHANCELLOR

While the world today is awaiting with keen interest the declaration of German policy which the new imperial chancellor, Dr. Georg Michaelis, is expected to deliver in the Reichstag the military forces of the belligerents for the moment are engaged in infantry operations of major importance only along the front in eastern Galicia.

Reports from this theatre of intense activity have indicated a lessening in the speed of the Russian drive. There has even been a recession at one point where Austrian and German reserves have been thrown into the fray in an effort to stop the Russian onrush which was threatening to roll the entire Austro-German line from Galicia down through the Rumanian mountains and plains.

Otherwise the French front in northern France presents the most notable features of momentary interest. Few days pass without an effort on the part of the Germans to get back some of the valuable territory which was wrested from them in the spring offensive or to make local inroads elsewhere on the French lines.

Attack Near St. Quentin

A new field was chosen for an attempt of this sort last night, the first really sharp attack for some time in the field of the great Hindenburg retreat of last March being delivered just to the north of St. Quentin. The German prince chose a front nearly half mile in extent, where the French occupied a hillock to the east of Cauchy. General Foch's forces were taken at a point at first by the intensity of the drive and yielded some ground in the first line. They rallied quickly, however, and drove the Germans out of the greater part of the occupied positions.

Petrograd in Turmoil

The situation in Petrograd continues troubled, but the provisional government apparently has decided to take hold with a firm hand and have it out.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN MINISTER QUILTS

PETROGRAD, July 19.—Another member of the Russian cabinet today resigned today. The minister who tendered his resignation was M. Pereveloff, who held the portfolio of justice.

Shots Exchanged

PETROGRAD, July 19.—Owing to reports of an intended attack on the Taurida palace for the purpose of arresting M. Skobelev, minister of labor, M. Skobelev, minister of justice, and telegrams and M. Tchernoff, minister of agriculture, the military authorities sent two light guns thither, which met a routine machine gun and machine gun fire. A party of infantry stationed at the Champ de Mars, some of the military reviews, fired on the Cossacks from Pavlovsk.

Lenine a German Agent

PETROGRAD, July 19.—A letter from Gen. Brussiloff's chief of staff states that Nikolai Lenine, the radical socialist leader, is an agent of the German general staff. The statement was traced through the confession of Lieut. Fridman, who was sent to the front of the sixth Russian army to further propaganda in favor of early peace with Germany.

Lenine's task was to compromise the revolution by the aid of the German forces of the people by every possible means. Funds were sent through the intermediary of an employee of the German general staff to the alleged chief German agent in Russia is Alexei Kostovskiy to whose account it is stated two million rubles are now standing.

Decisive Stage Near

PETROGRAD, July 19.—The general staff buildings and the palace square are headquarters for the government forces which are bivouacking there and have posted cannon. The feeling is that the decisive stage between the forces of order and disorder is rapidly approaching. At a joint meeting of the workmen and soldiers and peasants' councils a resolution was adopted in reference to the ministerial crisis to the effect that the departure of the cabinet ministers cannot be made the pretext for dismissing the government of the support of the revolutionary democracy. On the

THE TEST

In the examinations for engineers conducted by great railroads the ability to instantly recognize and choose colors is one of the most important and most interesting tests.

Some men call one color red when it is green; some fail to see green at all; others do not recognize red and still others call a white light a colored light.

But hence the rigid examinations; each color must be just as represented. Our eyes are ready for YOUR tests. What we advertise you will find; what we show is just as represented. Each article of merchandise is able to stand on its merits and you will find its merits far in advance of its price. When may we expect your test?

with the ultra-extreme elements which are keeping the city in a turmoil. Martial control has been established there and drastic measures seem to be the order of the day.

Transfer Seat of Government

Meanwhile the cabinet council is considering a proposal to transfer the seat of government to Moscow to prevent interference from an irresponsible section of the Petrograd garrison.

Russian Sink U-Boat

The sinking of a German submarine by a Russian destroyer in the Baltic is reported from Petrograd.

British Success

LONDON, July 19.—"As a result of the recent fighting east of Monchy le Preux, the advanced posts from which our troops were compelled to fall back by the enemy's attack on July 11 have now been re-established," says today's official statement. "Hostile raiding parties were repulsed last night west of Cherisy before reaching our trenches. We made successful raids north and east of Ypres and secured prisoners."

Russian Sink U-Boat

PETROGRAD, July 19.—The North and South agency reports that a Russian submarine has sunk a German submarine in the Baltic by dropping bombs on it, and that the crew of the submarine was drowned.

Germans Defeated

PARIS, July 19.—"The Germans made an attack last night on a front of 800 metres south of St. Quentin. The enemy announces that the enemy gained a footing in the French first line but was expelled from the greater part of these positions by a counter attack. Captured by the French near Amiens, on the Verdun front, was defeated."

other hand the resignation of the cadets makes it imperative for democracy to determine its attitude regarding the organization of power. Therefore general assembly councils of workmen and soldiers and peasants must be convened and such assembly will meet within a fortnight hence to discuss the organization which is to replace the cadet ministers. Meanwhile all power must be concentrated in the present government which must act in conformity with the decisions reached at the last general congress.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

PETROGRAD, July 19.—The government controls the city today as completely as the Bolsheviks appeared to control it yesterday.

PETROGRAD, July 19.—An extraordinary cabinet council is discussing the proposal to transfer the seat of the provisional government to Moscow.

PETROGRAD, July 19.—Russian troops have again driven into the Galician villages of Novica, south of Kaniuz and now occupy the eastern end of that place.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Potato prices have been nearly cut in two this week. A new sack of $1.10 barrel was made today, reducing quotations to $1.50 to $1.75 as against $7.50 to $8 on July 12.

BERLIN, July 19, via London.—The capture of French positions on a front of a kilometre southwest of St. Quentin is announced by the war office. Heavily fighting in Flanders continues.

COPENHAGEN, July 19.—At a meeting today the Danish government's commission on price regulation various experts reported on the outlook for food conditions in Denmark in the coming year. The impending cessation of fodder imports will necessitate great limitations upon the cattle and swine raising industries.

LONDON, July 19.—Robert P. Skinner, the American consul general here today completed an arrangement whereby American manufactured leather exporters may send to the United Kingdom per cent. of the quantity sent in the year 1916. The importation of manufactured leather had for some time been prohibited.

BERLIN, July 19, via London, July 19.—The American consul general here today completed an arrangement whereby American manufactured leather exporters may send to the United Kingdom per cent. of the quantity sent in the year 1916. The importation of manufactured leather had for some time been prohibited.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Telegrams of protest against holding the military draft on Friday were sent to the secretary of war today by Bishop Patterson and W. H. Gray of the Union League club. The leaders are not opposed to the draft, they say, only they feel that because of a superstition about Friday it would be better to have the drawing some other day.

500 KILLED OR WOUNDED
AT PETROGRAD

LONDON, July 19.—A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says the number of killed or wounded in the two days disorder there is estimated at about 500.

Marshal Gen. Crowder Explains
Method of Selecting
New ArmyTwo Drawings, One of Numbers From
One to One Thousand and Another
From Cipher to Ten to Form Master
Key—Each Board to Call Double the Number of Quota for Examination

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Nine thirty o'clock tomorrow morning in a committee room of the senate office building has been fixed as the time and place for the war army drawing. Secretary Baker and other cabinet officers and members of the senate and house military committees will witness the drawing. Provost Marshal General Crowder counts upon finishing in little more than an hour the entire process, which will fix the order of liability for appearance before the local exemption boards of each man of the ten million registered.

"The key will fix the order in which each group of thousands is to be placed on the liability list, which will run from number one to more than ten thousand. For instance, if nine should be the first number drawn for the key, all registration numbers in the nine thousand group would go in a block at the head of the list, arranged in the order in which the numbers one to one thousand come out in the second drawing. Districts with less than 2000 registrants, therefore, would disregard this first block entirely and would be affected only by the position of the key numbers for the blocks corresponding with the number of thousands of registrants they have."

Method of Drawing

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Ten million men are registered in the United States for war service—257,000 are needed in the first call for the national army. Who shall go first?

This question is asked and the method by which it is to be answered outlined by Provost Marshal General Crowder in an explanation issued last night of the great drawing about to be held in Washington. The scheme evolved is so simple that the drawing of one set of a thousand numerals and another of eleven will fix with absolute equality of chance the order in which every one of the ten million registrants shall report to his local board for examination and subsequent exemption, discharge or accepted for military service.

Since the average exemption district registration is 3000 and there are 4557 districts, the average number of men listed with each operation of the drawing machinery will be about 10,000.

Call 200 Per Cent at First

General Crowder announces also that local boards will be instructed to call 200 per cent of their quota at the first call to provide for probable exemptions. That means that 1,374,600 men will be notified to appear for examination within the next few days. If more are necessary they will be called for as needed by the local boards in the order provided for in the drawing. In some

WILSON PARDONS
16 SUFFRAGISTS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—President Wilson today issued pardons for the 16 suffragists who are serving a 60-day sentence in the workhouse at Occoquan, Va., for picketing in front of the White House.

Secretary Tumulty said the pardon must speak for itself and that the White House would have no statement to make of the president's reason for his action.

Women's party leaders at their headquarters expressed surprise at the president's action and declared emphatically that "nickering of the White House would not stop as a result of it. These women now in the workhouse have no interest in a pardon," Miss Mabel Vernon said. "They submitted themselves to arrest in the interest of national woman suffrage and the interest of a pardon for their alleged offense."

Dudley Field Malone, collector of customs of New York, who had planned to appeal the cases of the prisoners, declined to make any comment on the president's action. He received the news at suffragist headquarters where he was in conference.

M'CALL'S SELECTION OF
AMES CRITICIZED

Special to The Sun

BOSTON, July 19.—Henry F. Long, secretary to Gov. McCall, has issued a statement concerning a story printed in a Boston paper under a Washington headline, in which Washington officials are quoted as expressing amazement that Gov. McCall should suggest Col. Butler Ames of Lowell for commanding officer of the New England troops in the National Guard. Mr. Long says the governor suggested Col. Ames because of his educational experience and personal qualities which make him as well fitted as any other man in New England to command the New England troops. The

TOMPKINS CONFESSES TO TRIPLE MURDER

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 19.—George C. Tompkins of Philadelphia, held in connection with the shooting to death of Edmund I. Humphries, prominent coal operator, his wife, Mrs. Carrie Humphries and their 15-year-old son, Edmund I. Humphries, Jr., on a country road near Carrolltown, this county last Sunday, confessed to the three murders today, according to announcement by the police. The confession was made in the presence of Jailer Edward Kneebly of the County Jail and Tompkins' attorneys.

Tompkins was a member of the Humphries automobile party, following the shooting he went to the home of a friend and declared that the party had been held up by three masked men, who shot and killed the members of the Humphries family.

Evidence against Tompkins was considered only circumstantial prior to his confession.

Tompkins, the authorities announced, made a complete confession willingly and without pressure. The motive given by Tompkins for committing the murders was not immediately given out.

According to Jailer Kneebly, Tompkins was sitting in the office of the jail talking to his wife and his father, George C. Tompkins, at the jail on N. J., when he burst forth saying: "I killed those three people. I killed them all. I killed the Humphries in the corn field. I bought the pistol in Johnstown."

Mrs. Tompkins became hysterical and her husband said he never later it is said, he made a detailed verbal confession to the Rev. D. F. Henry, pastor of the Ebenezer Presbyterian church, but this confession was not made public.

CONFINE BILL TO FOODS,
FEEDS AND FUELS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Confinement of government control legislation in the food bill to foods, feeds and fuels including kerosene and gasoline was offered today when, in what was regarded as a test vote, the senate rejected 41 to 58, an amendment by Senator Kenyon of Iowa, to extend control to iron ore and its products, hemp, binding twine and farm implements and tools.

Early lines were not observed in the vote which while tentative was expected to end the fight for broad extension of government control. Sen. Kenyon's amendment was proposed as an addition to that of Senator Chandler, drafted by democratic and republican leaders providing for control only of foods, feeds and fuels, including kerosene and gasoline.

Implicit endorsement was given Herbert C. Hoover today by the senate when by a viva voce vote it rejected an amendment by Senator Reed of Mississippi to have the food control bill administered by a board of five instead of three members. Preparatory to voting on many amendments, several senators formally offered individual amendments to various sections of the bill.

Senator Grona introduced one to increase the proposed minimum guarantee of wheat from $1.75 to $2 a bushel, payable at the local primary markets and designed to let the farmer around $1.35. Senator Borah said the price of the farmer's products, Senator Hollis asserted. "All that is controlled is the middleman after the products get out of hands of the farmers."

The New Hampshire senator said he believed in government control of all prices but that this bill is a measure and it is not expedient to tuck all of the other matters onto it.

FRENCH ATTACKS WERE SHOCK TO GERMANS

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, July 19 (By the Associated Press).—The crown prince's army suffered the rudest shock when the French yesterday attacked and recaptured all the positions northwest of Verdun. These cost the Germans much harder fighting when they took them from the French.

The attack cost the Germans not only the loss of their former conquest and about 50 prisoners, but the French cut into their line and repeated German counterattacks failed to recover any part thereof and resulted even in more losses.

The Germans when they advanced at the end of June obtained possession of a number of observatories giving them splendid views of the French line. The Germans have been for several days anticipating that the French would try to shell them out but did not expect an infantry attack.

The French were obliged to delay the movement owing to bad weather but continued the heavy bombardment causing the Germans such losses that they were obliged to take the Tenth and thirteenth divisions and holding their position out of the trenches. Some of its companies have been reduced to fifty men apiece.

The 29th division replaced it, supported by the 48th division composed of fresh troops brought from the Russian front.

It was while relief was proceeding that the French attacked, thoroughly surprising the enemy by appearing in their trenches while the bombardment was proceeding. In a few seconds the French battalions had surrounded the objects separating the armies and disappeared down on the other side. Before the Germans could recover the French were within the third line German trenches.

Classes in Navigation
BOSTON, July 19.—Henry Howard, director of recruiting for the United States shipping board, announced today that the first classes in navigation at the free school at Georgetown, L. It was predicted that within 30 days 125 men would have qualified for licenses as officers for the American merchant marine.

WOULD SEND U.S. FORCE TO RUSSIA

BOSTON, July 19.—Out of a discussion at a dinner attended last night at the Harvard club by commissioned officers of the New England cavalry organizations of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Hampshire came the prophecy that American troops would win the war and capture Berlin by co-operation with Russia on the eastern front.

The practically unanimous opinion of all present that America's best opportunity lies in the east. There is no submarine peril on the Pacific, it was pointed out, and unlimited supplies can be transported to the front. The many of the officers were skeptical as to the possibility of providing for more than a force of 250,000 men on the western front with submarine and tonnage conditions as they now are.

One plan which was suggested would provide for the inclusion of every company of American troops at least five men familiar with the Russian language and conditions, the organization of a large body of cavalry to co-operate with the Cossacks, and the outfitting of American regiments with every facility that would make an appeal to the Russians, such as bands, flags, etc.

Would Go from Pacific Coast

This expeditionary force would then be transported from the Pacific coast and the details of the Russian language and conditions, the organization of a large body of cavalry to co-operate with the Cossacks, and the outfitting of American regiments with every facility that would make an appeal to the Russians, such as bands, flags, etc.

As discussed at the dinner were Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the northeastern department, Adj. Gen. E. Leroy Swetscher, Lieut. Col. F. C. Marshall and Maj. T. A. Roberts, the last two the present and former officers of instruction of the New England cavalry organization. In discussing the future of the cavalry, which he said he thought was a bright one, Brig. Gen. Edwards declared that the war has sounded the death knell of the National Guard.

State Control to Disappear

"After the establishment of the national army the plan of state control will disappear, never to return. I hope, however, that some plan of national state interest can be devised, such as the organization in the states of reserve regiments to act as feeders of the federal units. Say, for instance, that there is a regiment in the national army known as the 20th regiment, composed chiefly of Massachusetts troops. If there was maintained in Massachusetts a 20th regiment to supply recruits for the one in active service and to take men who have graduated into the service from the best of the state, I think that much good would come out of the plan."

Declaring that he was loath "to pull feathers from the eagle and to pull weeds from the garden," he said that he was loath to undervalue the belief that any American regiment of regulars was superior to the best German body now in service. "I am absolutely sure that I could take over any American regiment of regulars and in 30 days they would be masters of any of the so-called specialists of the trench warfare and capable of beating the Germans at their own game," Gen. Edwards declared.

Other speakers were Col. R. L. Howes, Lieut. E. Leroy Swetscher, Maj. T. A. Roberts and Lieut. Col. F. C. Marshall. Capt. Roger Wolcott of Massachusetts was elected president and Capt. Samuel A. Hall of Rhode Island secretary and treasurer of the association for the following year. The retiring president, Maj. John L. Howard, presided as toastmaster.

400 AMERICANS HELD IN TURKEY AS RESULT OF U. S. DETAINING TURKISH STUDENTS

BERLIN, July 17.—Via London, July 15.—Dr. Achmed Emin Bey, editor of the Constantinople Daily Sabah, one of a party of Turkish journalists who are at present guests of the German government, told the Associated Press today that the Turkish government withdrew the special train arranged for Americans who wished to depart from Turkey as a result of a report made by the Turkish government that the Turkish government had refused to permit Turkish students in New York to return with the college.

There is much feeling in Turkey as a result of the action of the United States," said he, "and reprisals are being urged in some quarters."

He said there are about 400 Americans still in Turkey.

SIXTH REGIMENT GOES TO AYER

FRAMINGHAM, July 19.—Col. Warren E. Sweetser, of the 6th Mass. Infantry, today received orders from headquarters of the northeastern department to break camp here and march over the road to Ayer Friday or Saturday. Col. Sweetser has selected Saturday, as he has had in his experience several orders to move on Friday some of which have been on the 13th of the month.

The order is disappointing to the regiment, the opinion prevailing that once in Ayer it will remain there until peace is declared regarding federal property, and its officers employed as instructors for the conscripts. The men looked on an early assignment to John Pen. Pershing in France, or at least to Charlotte, S. C. They say the regiment was "hoodooed" last year when it was first sent to the Mexican border, and they feel blue.

They are, however, good soldiers—some better in the state—and orders are orders.

Col. Sweetser, with several of his staff, will start bright and early Saturday to select with them the 6th regiment, as he proposes to make the 27 miles in three days, with two nights of bivouac. He will endeavor to find his first night camp near Sudbury and the second at Littleton. The change of base will cost the government and the regiment considerable money, the men having installed many conveniences here at their own expense, thinking that they would be here for some time.

Only Tuesday Capt. Henry W. Wheelock, supply officer, had carted over the road from Boston more than 30 tons of rations and supplies. These were being installed here yesterday, but early today they must be taken out again, to be sent to Ayer ahead of the regiment.

Yesterday Dr. S. of the Y.M.C.A. of Springfield delivered a lecture to the regiment on "Physical Training and Hygiene."

A quite different feeling reigned in

You need not hate your sweater after it is washed!

It can be washed so that it will not shrink—so that it will not be humpy where it should be flat, and flat where it should be full.

It is alkali and rubbing that make the wool fibers twist and tangle—make the material shrink and mat.

Wash it this way!

Wash your sweater the Lux way. Lux has no free alkali, and the creamy lather loosens the dirt without a bit of rubbing.

Try it on the "grimy" sweater that hangs in the closet—you won't wear it until it's cleaned and you have been afraid to wash it.

Wear every day, the sweater for which you just paid the cleaner so much. Don't be afraid of its getting soiled. When it does, pop it into a Lux bath—and it is new again!

Order Lux from your grocer or from any department store. It will not harm anything that pure water alone will not injure. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

LUX

Won't shrink Woolens!

No shrunken armholes—no ugly, drawn lines across your shoulders and hips! But—the same charming shape, the same woolly softness as when they were new.

How to wash your sweater

For white woolen sweaters, whisk the Lux flakes into a lather in hot or very hot water. Put in your sweater and let it soak until the water is comfortable for the hands. Then work it about in the suds, but do not wring. Rinse in warm water the same temperature as that in which you washed it. Dissolve a little Lux in the last rinsing water; this leaves the sweater softer and fluffier. Do not hang up to dry. Spread on a bath towel and dry in the sun. For colored sweaters, the water should be cooler and they should be dried in the shade.

CANOBIE LAKE THEATRE

For today, Friday and Saturday, Paramount Picture Corp. will present Pauline Frederick in "Lydia Gilmore," which is a famous play's adaptation of Henry Arthur Jones' stirring drama.

The costly settings of this production were taken on one of the handiest estates in this country and every phase of the picture has been made to coincide with the breadth, power and gripping intensity of the story; particularly striking are the scenes in the court-room in which the devoted mother has won her love, and she has to save the man whose infidelity brought pain and grief upon her head.

Fifteen farmers, living near Turpin, Mo., have pledged themselves to sow an acre of wheat which shall be given to the Red Cross. Farmers throughout the township are being urged to make a similar pledge. The Red Cross will furnish the seed.

THE SINK FINE PAPER SEIZED

DUBLIN, July 19.—The newspaper Kilkenny People was seized and suppressed yesterday by the police and military authorities. This paper is an important local weekly conducted by Edward T. Keane, an active politician, since the days of Parnell and now chairman of the local Sinn Feiners.

The paper has had frequent difficulties with the censorship, but it is felt here by good judges that its seizure on the eve of the parliamentary election to replace Patrick O'Brien, nationalist, who died July 12, will assist the Sinn Feiners and prejudice any constitutional candidate who may win.

The Sinn Feiners will hold a meeting under Mr. Keane's chairmanship to select a candidate, who now will probably be Keane himself.

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered deodorant, apply to the face and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off. This method of banishing hairy growth is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real deodorant.

This insulation has proved itself the best that ever was put into a refrigerator. To the inner case is tacked with staples expanded steel lath of a fine mesh. This covers the whole provision chamber and in this lath is plastered "Marbolite." This lath holds the "Marbolite" so that it is impossible for it to crack or come off. With this combination it has been proven that it will stand the wear longer than straw lined boxes.

promotion to the grade of non-commissioned officer and commissioned officer. Why not enlist now for one of these companies.

You have an opportunity for service abroad and a good chance for promotion. The quartermaster general has decided to offer the commissions in these companies to deserving men from the ranks.

As stated in The Sun several weeks ago, the local regular army recruiting officers are on the lookout for young men who have had some experience in the baking line or who would like to become proficient in that line. Since then the officers have received orders to recruit for additional baking companies, which are about to be organized, and the instructions are as follows:

The quartermaster general has been directed to organize at once 40 bakery companies in addition to the ten companies now within the continental limits of the United States. These companies will be numbered from No. 1 to 50. Nos. 5 and 6 are in Honolulu and the Philippine Islands. The personnel of these companies will consist of:

- 1—First Lieutenant.
- 1—Second Lieutenant.
- 1—Sergeant, first class $51 per month.
- 23—Sergeants, $44 per month.
- 15—Corporals, $36 per month.
- 15—Privates, first class, $33 per month.
- 15—Privates, $30 per month.
- 2—Cook, $39 per month.

In addition the government furnishes food, lodging and clothing. The equipment consists of the army field bakery No. 1 oven with equipment. One of these ovens with equipment is designated as a unit, and is so equipped that it is a field bakery complete in itself with a personnel of six men capable of supplying 1800 men per day with bread.

Fifteen (15) of these units constitute a bakery company and the company has a capacity of 40,000 pounds of bread per day. This is an opportunity for strong and energetic young men to learn a trade. Men who volunteer now will have an excellent opportunity for promotion. There are about 800 vacancies in the grade of sergeant baker and 600 in the grade of corporal to be filled by the most capable men. In addition to this there will be vacancies in the grade of first and second lieutenant for experienced bakers with the necessary educational qualifications. A young man with a good high school education stands a good chance to enlist, learn the bakers trade, and place himself in line for captain of Co. G of the Sixth regiment and now commander of Co. 57, the business men's unit, has been suggested to Gov. McCall as an officer capable of commanding a battalion of the new State Guard. The Lowell officer has had abundant experience in the military game, and it is wholly probable that the governor will act favorably on the suggestion of his appointment. Last night Maj. Jeyes announced the names of the men whom he has appointed non-commissioned officers of Co. 57, as follows:

First sergeant, William D. Edney; sergeants, Loring R. Kew, sergeant, Edward W. Daly, Harry Drury, Lewis E. MacBrayne and Robert E. Marden; corporals, E. T. Gowen, Albert A. Ludwig, William Rawlinson, Oliver Stevens, Orrin H. Webster, Fred C. Wight, Royal E. White and Barry Putnam; cooks, John Pilling and Albert Parsons; musicians, Louis Murrin and William Price; artificer, Louis Bushbaum. Co. 50, the Spanish war veterans' company, held a well attended drill at the armory last evening.

SEEN AND HEARD

Early to bed and early to rise is a sure way of missing the regular guys. Because a girl with pretty teeth laughs at your joke is no sign that the joke is especially amusing.

Henry's All Right

The story is told in Detroit, writes Fred Kelly in Colliers, of a Smart Aleck employed in the Ford plant who chanced to pass Henry Ford himself in a corridor of the big factory, and said in an undertone, for the benefit of another boy: "Howdy, Hank!"—not intending that Ford should hear him. But there was a lull in the noise of the machinery right at that moment and Ford did hear him. What did Ford do to the fresh youngster for calling him Hank? Waved his hand at him pleasantly and replied: "Hello, son."

Looking For Mascot

Have you a hollow-horned ruminant of the genus "capra" lying somewhere around the house? No, it's not a disease. It's a goat. Not the kind you see when things go wrong, but a real, live, fur-bearing, milk-giving animal with a pronounced and accelerated forward tendency toward anything that doesn't strike his fancy. If you have, the boys of Company E, Engineers' corps, Rockingham park, will be delighted to hear from you. They're looking for a mascot, not at all to refuse to accept anything but a goat. They have all kinds of cats and dogs in camp, but will not promote any of them to the rank of official mascot.

Not Jaded By War

President Wilson, the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American informs us, has not been jaded by the war. In health he never was better. Life is up to date for him and he appears less worried than at any time since he assumed the presidency. He gets up at 5 every morning and goes for a horseback ride with Mrs. Wilson. By 8:30 he has had breakfast and is ready for his mail. The president has not given up golf. About every third day he goes to the Washington club and plays 18 holes. About three evenings in the week the president goes out. One of these is sure to find him at the local vaudeville theatre, and another at some other theatre where there is a non-serious attraction. The serious in dramatic does not appeal to Mr. Wilson. He takes his serious drama from reality.

Dear Lure of Salmon

The call of the cold, boiled salmon is stronger than that of the boiled shirt. As the result, more than 35 of Spokane's China boys have departed during the last two months for Alaska to work in canning plants, says the Spokane Chronicle.

Today Spokane has but four Chinese laundries left, six having closed their doors. Day in the canning plants of Alaska is better than in the laundries here. "I no fo tumbly washe no more," said Sing Wah, proprietor of one of the remaining wash houses. Sing decided he had but six laundries left and that any people who wanted him to wash for them would have to bring their clothes down to his laundry.

Chinese laundrymen work 12 hours a day for $2.50 to $4, depending upon the ability of the workman, while in Alaska the pay is said to be about $6.

That Troublesome II

A certain English foreman in one of the Kensington textile factories is in the habit of having an apprentice heat his luncheon for him. The other day he called a new apprentice.

"Go down stairs and eat up my lunch for me," ordered the foreman. The boy—a typical young American, with no knowledge of cockney English—obeyed with alacrity. He was hungry.

Ten minutes later the foreman came down. He also was hungry.

"Where's my lunch?" he demanded.

The boy—gazed at him in amazement, there.

"You told me to eat it up—and I ate it," he stammered.

"I didn't tell you to eat it up!" roared the irate foreman. "I told you to eat it up."

"Well, I didn't eat it up," maintained the youngster, slowly. "I ate it cold."—You're a Companion.

The Ship-Builders

They that go down to the sea in ships, They shall bring peace at last— Peace through food for the hungry— Peace through the far-sent armies— Peace through the sea in ships. They shall bring peace at last.

But the ships to bear them over the sea— Ships enough and to spare— For the death-sown track where the snipers be.

The vipers that kill in the darkness Where are the ships that shall sail to free The world from its blood-red care?

As the statue hid in the stone they stand— Deep-hid in the oak and steel, Waiting for craftsmen of cunning hand.

To fashion them, rib and keel, Till the myriad builders, band on band, Shall the land-locked fleet unsail.

So arm ye, who may not bleed in France, With tools and hammers and saws: These be your weapons—aye, these your lance.

To break in the holy cause, For they that go down to the sea in ships, With food for the gasping, hungering lips, Will armies that cry for a squadron vast, These, these shall bring peace at last.

—By M. A. DeWolfe Howe.

THE JITNEY HERE AND IN LAWRENCE

The jitney problem is causing much more trouble in Lawrence than Lowell people are aware of. Complainers against the situation existing in the city at present—the refusal of the municipal council to allow the jitney owners to engage in their trade without furnishing a bond—are constantly pointing out Lawrence as an example of a place where the jitneys are run- ning without their owners furnishing a bond. They cannot understand why the downriver residents should be able to have the jitney accommodations that are denied Lowell. But there has been a new turn of affairs in Lawrence and it is doubtful whether the "jit" operators will be allowed to ply their trade without a bond. When the Lawrence city council passed an ordinance last December providing for the licensing of jitneys there was no mention in said ordinance of any bonds. It has been discovered by some of the legal lights of Springfield that the ordinance was taken from a statute passed by the state legislature in 1916, but this statute provided that the license fee should be paid by the owner of the vehicle. The Lawrence ordinance should be amended to require the payment of a license fee. The matter is to be decided at an early date, and a decision together with the result of the Lowell meeting next Tuesday evening should straighten out matters a little in regard to the jitney question.

BELIEVES EXTRADITION OF COCCI IMPOSSIBLE

ROME, July 19.—Joseph W. Grigg, who has been representing Police Commissioner Woods of New York in the Cocchi murder case, has come to the conclusion that unless unforeseen circumstances arise between Italy and the United States extradition of the slayer of Ruth Gruger is impossible. Mr. Grigg has made an exhaustive investigation of the extradition question which has become a difficult one, because there is no proof that Cocchi is an American citizen.

Bramwell, W. Va., has a population of less than 1000, yet they subscribed for $245,000 of Liberty Bonds and more than $10,000 for the Red Cross. This is believed to be the largest per capita subscription in the country. Bramwell has total bank deposits of $6,750,000, which is no doubt the largest per capita deposits in the United States, the average for the town being $164 per man, woman and child.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Our esteemed neighbor, the Courier-Citizen, has had some very sensible editorials on the Irish question during the past year, but in dealing with the result of the Clare election, the editor appears to assume that the present, unsettled political conditions are merely a manifestation of some inherent quality of unrest peculiar to the Irish people.

For nearly twenty years Ireland went along with as much unanimity as could be expected anywhere, under the guidance of the parliamentary party. During that period more substantial reforms were secured than were ever won by all the other leaders from the days of Grattan. It is unnecessary here to name the long list of measures enacted for expropriating the landlords, improving the educational system, dividing up the great pasture lands for the people, securing old age pensions and clearing the way for home rule.

The Irish party succeeded in placing upon the statute books a home rule measure better than Grattan's constitution, better than either of the measures offered by Gladstone and accepted by Mr. Parnell; and better in some respects than the constitution of Massachusetts. It is true that it is misrepresented by a horde of sinister influences with the sole purpose of making trouble for Ireland and stirring up a rebellion in England.

The British government, not Ireland, is responsible for the present change in political sentiment in Ireland, as indicated by recent elections. The government's punitive treatment of the Sinn Fein rebellion, even though it did have a German aspect, was altogether too severe. Then, to make a bad matter worse, the ministry openly, deliberately and in the basest manner, betrayed Mr. Redmond, who had placed confidence in England's promises to put the home rule act in force. This and placing Honar Law and Mr. Carson, the two leading Unionists, in the cabinet, brought to the ranks of the Irish rebels some of the peaceful men who had patiently followed the struggles of the parliamentary party for thirty years.

England is now very anxious to see the question settled by a decent measure of home rule; and in the meantime it is not well to judge of Irish sentiment by the expressions of ultra-radicals, avowed rebels or political martyrs. The masses of the people are keeping discreetly silent, knowing that the situation has changed since the United States and England have made common cause in the war, and that any attempt to harass England at the present time would be likely to alienate the sympathy of strong American friends, including President Wilson, who has already impressed upon British statesmen the wisdom of settling that question as soon as possible.

EMBARGO WILL HIT HARD

There is increasing evidence that President Wilson's proposed embargo upon American food shipments came none too soon. Indeed, it came too late by many months. The amount of supplies being delivered to Germany by Denmark and Holland is simply amazing. Denmark is supposed to be neutral, but she is under the paw of the Prussian tiger and evidently proving a faithful purveyor. Danish cocoa imports have been over 50,000 tons during the war, while the yearly home consumption was 1600 tons. Ten million pounds went from this country to Denmark in 1916 alone. Of course, the great excess imported went to Germany.

Not only is it a valuable and sustaining food, but German chemists have been able to extract fat needed for explosives.

The imports of such things as bacon, lard, oleo oil, cotton seed cake and linseed increased in some cases 72 times over the normal ante-war importation. The excess went to Germany.

Cattle are said to be going steadily to Germany, at the rate of 8000 to 10,000 head a week. They were fattened on fodder, every pound of which was imported. A special train, called the milk train, is said to leave Copenhagen every morning for Berlin. Fish and eggs are sent in great quantities. The Germans have had the pick of the Danish horses.

And, final suspicious circumstance—the ships of the big Danish Shipping Co. between this country and Copenhagen have been absolutely immune from submarine attacks.

Those ships carried food for Denmark, and a goodly portion was transhipped to Germany.

The Wilson embargo will stop this. When they realize what they are facing, the Danes will make haste to keep every pound of food at home. German soldiers will cease to eat not only American food, but Danish food also.

The same treatment will be dealt out to Holland and Sweden, both of which have been helping Germany to meet the necessities of the war. The wonder is where Germany found the money to purchase all the stuff.

official heads of the street department as a "worthy case."

Owing to the rough condition of this street at present, the automobiles and vehicles of all kinds avoid it. The thumping over the big cobblestones and the many ruts and hollows is neither a safe nor a pleasant sensation. It is destructive to all kinds of vehicles.

Gorham street is much too narrow for the traffic thrown upon it during the past few years. If the part of Central street from Davis square to Tower's corner were smoothed paved, it would greatly relieve the congestion on Gorham street. It would thus become a favorite route inward and outward for visiting autoists. It would pay the city to incur the expense of cutting the hill leading to Hoxford square and raising the grade from Tyler street to Union street. This job might be expensive, but it would certainly pay in the long run. In the interests of the city and the taxpayers both on Gorham and "Back" Central streets, this thoroughfare should be regraded and smoothed paved without further delay. There is positively no other street of equal importance in Lowell that has been so badly neglected.

SOMETHING MUST BREAK

We are certainly in a bad predicament in regard to wilful "hold-ups" in the conduct of the war. The senators through what appears to be a mercenary spirit are holding up the food bill and to a great extent nullifying its main purpose by delay. The bill is attacked, and Mr. Hoover, the food administrator, is attacked—all apparently for the purpose of delay.

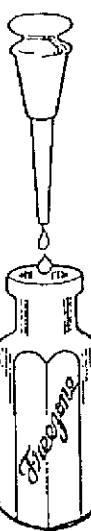

Colonel Goethals, head of the Emergency Fleet corporation, and Chairman Denman, of the shipping board, are deadlocked on the question of authority on the plans of the ships, and the contracts. If Goethals is so overpoweringly great that he cannot sit down with other men and let them know what he is going to do with this $500,000,000 better get rid of him. There are others who may be able to do the job quite as well. Let him go back to await the next slide in the canal.

Not only is the food supply this year greatly increased in this country but the supply of fuel also. The output of the soft coal for the first six months of the year shows a total of 270,000,000 tons or 20,000,000 tons more than for the same period last year. There was a corresponding increase in the anthracite coal mined. What is equally good news, arrangements are made to ensure its transportation to the points needed all over the country.

The German senators are holding up the food bill to the extreme limit. When the cloture silences them on that issue they will start in to oppose the aviation measure. The filibuster is being revived. The "wilful" senators are still fighting against the interests of the nation.

Not a Corn or Callus on Feet

Apply few drops, then lift them off without pain.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or when it is removed, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, just shivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice.

districts the 100 per cent allowance for exemption may be too large and in others too small, but the local boards will be instructed in every case to continue calling for men until the district quota is filled. Each state governor is allotted to his districts their respective portions of the state's quota.

The Serial Numbers

In each of the 4557 exemption districts, among which the ten million registration cards have been divided, the cards had been given serial numbers. The number of registrants in each district varies from about 155 in the smallest to more than 10,000 in the largest, so that the serial numbers to be dealt with in the drawing range from one to between nine and ten thousand.

In order to reduce the mechanical process to make it possible for the 1000 numbers drawn to reach every man in every district, a so-called master key has been devised. This will be obtained by drawing slips from naught to ten, which will be listed in the order they are drawn to form the key.

Then will begin the drawing of the numbers one to one thousand. For the district with not more than one thousand registrants there will be no problem to determine the order of appearance before the exemption board. The number drawn first will fix the man whose card bears that serial number as the first to appear before his board. In the district with only 155 registrants, the 155 will be liable for appearance in the order in which their numbers are drawn, and when a number higher than that appears the district of course, will not be affected.

Application of the master key makes it possible to apply fairly each of the one thousand numbers drawn to districts with more than one thousand registrants. As a number is drawn it will be added to each of the thousands in excess of one thousand in each district.

PETROGRAD REPORTS SPIES ON THEIR WAY TO RUSSIA TO ASSASSINATE KERENSKY

Petrograd reports said that Germany was sending 100 spies into Russia to attempt the assassination of Minister of War Alexander F. Kerensky, Gen. Brusiloff and other leaders. A strong bodyguard was immediately ordered for all of these officials.

From now on wherever Kerensky travels the most rigorous precautions will be taken. Gen. Brusiloff's military staff has been impressed with the necessity of guarding their leader. These two men are responsible more than any others in Russia for the success of the Russian drive in Galicia. Their tireless work in urging Russia to an offensive and in making the arrangements as to supplies and munitions which have rendered that advance successful has greatly cemented all factions in Russia.

NAVAL RECRUITS LEAVING ST. PAUL

These pictures show the departure from St. Paul of 150 men recruited for the United States naval service. The parade given in their honor was headed by the cadet band of the United States Naval Academy. The band visited St. Paul for the purpose of encouraging recruiting there for the British army. Every regiment of sailors, marines or soldiers leaves St. Paul is escorted to its train by the cadet band, drum corps, drill squad and a delegation of Red Cross representatives, who present the men with comfort kits.

687,000 men are needed, Gen. Crowder says.

THE ORDER OF EXAMINATION

"If we were dealing the ancient draft, we should take every 14th man, but we are not conscripting. We are selecting for military service those whose civil service can best be spared. Therefore, the question is not 'who shall go first?' but 'who shall be first called up for examination?' and what we must do is to make a list showing the order of examination."

"Now no one knows how many men must be examined to yield 687,000 soldiers. Therefore, no one can say just how many men it is absolutely necessary to put on this list."

"A moment's reflection will prove that the whole ten million must be given their places on the 'Order of Examination.' Every registered man is in a state of uncertainty. He does not know when he will be called. He hesitates to plan a crop for fear he will not reap it. Employers hesitate to engage his services, fearing they will be but temporary. This condition ought to be cured for the repose of the public mind. It can be cured to some extent by putting every man on the list. For this reason, the whole ten million names are to be given places on the list at order of examination."

The Segregation into Groups

"Obviously no single agency could examine ten million men. Therefore, the ten million men are segregated into groups of suitable size for examination. There are 4557 of these groups. For each group a board has been appointed to examine for selection. By far the greater number of these groups consist of approximately 3000 men."

"Since this is so, our problem is not to put the whole ten million names in one list arranged in the order of examination. It is to be determined the order of examination in each center."

The Necessity for Drawing

"Since all registered men stand on an equality of right and duty, the question of priority can only be determined by lot or drawing. It would be possible to have 4557 separate drawings—one for each group—but since methods would vary and since supervision and absolute insurance against the charge of fraudulent manipulation could not be had in that way, every consideration of expediency and justice urges one drawing in Washington."

The Method for the Drawing

"In each group, every registration card has a red-inked number written on its face and the number runs in a single series from unity (1) to the number corresponding to the greatest number of cards in the group. Normally this is from unity (1) to about 3000."

"Exact copies of the cards in each group have been attached and sent to the various state capitols. Lists showing the name of each man in each group and the serial number of his card have been posted in the office of the board, published in the press and one copy is on file in Washington. There is, therefore, no chance of any man's number being changed without detection or of any card being lost beyond replacement."

The Idea of the Central Drawing

"Suppose there were just 3000 names and numbers in every group. It is at once apparent that it would be a very simple thing to have a central drawing that would control the order of every name and number of every group of the whole ten million, just put 3000 numbers into a bowl and draw them out one at a time. The first number drawn out would place the 1557 cards bearing that particular number at the head of every list in the United States. The second number drawn would put the cards bearing that number second on all the lists, and so forth."

"Now the thing cannot be done in precisely this way, because there are not precisely 3000 numbers in every group. But the same idea with necessary modifications is the idea on which the present drawing is based."

The Drawing by Thousands

"To draw 10,000 separate numbers would take ten hours and would multiply the chance of error. Moreover, if the nine-thousands, the eight-thousands, the seven-thousands, and the six-thousands were scattered all over the master list indiscriminately, the cancellation by boards having small groups would be very tedious and would open the way to numerous errors. All this is easily avoided."

"Suppose we drew only 1000 numbers. We would then provide that the drawing of the number 875 would also draw the numbers 1875, 2875, 3875, 4875, 5875, 6875, 7875, and 8875."

"In that way only 1000 numbers need be drawn, and by making our master list consist of one sheet for 1000 we could provide a master list easily applicable to the lists with only 3000 numbers, since such boards could disregard all except the first three sheets."

"We should do this but for the fact that this makes it certain that men in the first thousand would be called first, men in the second thousand

HIGHLANDERS RECRUITING IN UNITED STATES

"The ladies from hell" was what the Germans came to call the soldiers of the Highland regiments in the first weeks of the war. "Ladies" because of their terrible fighting qualities. That was a respectful tribute from the Kaiser's picked army of 1914.

But more of the same are needed on the battle line the ladies, for they are out to scour the United States for them. They are not recruiting alone for Highland regiments, however, but for every branch of the Canadian or British armies and incidentally are glad to contribute toward stimulating recruiting by Uncle Sam.

Not since all New York turned out in one great wave of enthusiasm and affection to welcome Marshal Joffre as next, and men with high serial numbers last of all.

"Since the assignment of numbers is also done by chance, this does not interfere very greatly with the even chance of all men, but it does interfere to some extent. For this reason it was decided to have one drawing to determine the order within any group of 1000 and another drawing to determine the order in which the sheets of 1000 each should appear on the master list, instead of arbitrarily assigning the sheets of 1000 to their natural order. This reduces the whole matter to an absolute equality of chance."

The details of the drawing: "One group of numbers, from 1 to 1000 and a second group, from naught to ten, have been carefully imprinted on opaque slips of paper, black on one side, counted and checked. These slips have been rolled up and each put inside a gelatine capsule with the black side out. To insure absolute accuracy of the capsules containing numbers from 1 to 1000 have been counted into ten glass jars in groups of 100 each; the glass jars have been sealed and kept in a safe awaiting the day of drawing."

"The contents of the jars will be decanted into a large glass receptacle the guest of the nation has the city seen a popular demonstration approaching that which greeted the Canadian Highlanders who arrived to spend "British recruiting week" in New York and to give all New Yorkers a chance to see some of the British empire's most picturesque and famous fighting men.

From 7 in the morning, when Col. Percy A. Guthrie and his band of pipers of the Maclean Highlanders departed from the Fall River boat to march uptown to the Seventy-first street armory, until late at night, when the evening parade in the Bronx ended, the mere sight of a sturdy lad in a Glengarry bonnet, with a kilt and a pair of bare, brown knees, was enough to summon a cheering throng.

The Maclean Highlanders, to whom from which the capsules can be readily drawn. A blindfolded man will stir the capsules into receptacles thoroughly before any are drawn and will keep stirring them during the drawing."

"A blindfolded man will then draw capsules out one at a time. As each capsule is drawn it will be handed to an announcer, who will break the capsule and announce the number drawn. While he is announcing the number the second capsule will be drawn and handed to a second announcer, who will break the capsule and read the number. The drawing will proceed in this way until all the capsules are drawn."

Three tally sheets will be kept. One keeper of a tally sheet will repeat each number as it is announced and all three will write it down. In case of disagreement between tally sheets on any number the sheets that agree will control."

"Immediately before the drawing of the numbers from 1 to 1000, the drawing of the numbers from 0 to 10 will take place to determine the order in which the thousands shall appear on the master lists."

these men belong, are a new unit and are being entirely enlisted by Colonel Guthrie in person. They wear the tartan of the Clan Maclean of Duart, which have not been worn by a military unit since 1745, when practically the entire clan was wiped out for Prince Charlie at the battle of Culloden.

Col. Guthrie, who has been on an 18 months' furlough recovering from wounds received at the battle of Festubert in 1915, has been allowed to pick his own officers from the best in the service, and every one of the battalions of the first Canadian expeditionary force is represented in his command.

The pictures show the inspection of the Highlanders in New York, their color guard and Col. Guthrie.

day school was held Monday night. There was a large attendance and Mrs. Grant's gold division won first honors by turning in $103, while the blue division produced but $18. Owing to the inability of Mr. Grant to lead the gold team during the next quarter, Mr. Harry Leavitt has been chosen to take his place. The blues will be led by Misses Winnie Teal and Lulu Palmer.

TODAY'S FASHION HINTS

Belge broadcloth, summer weight, gives this model, especially designed for stout women. Please note that the huge square pockets are set on a line with the bottom of the coat and have graduated hila.

This sport coat is put up in heavy shantung of navy blue shade. Diagonal skirt and collar are effectively achieved by wide stripes of navy and gray shantung. Two heavy blue tassels on belt ends set the seal, however.

This handsome one piece is fashioned of white linen, set off with Joffre blue belt, cuffs and collar. On the three front box plaits hand embroidery traces models, disks in the same shade of blue.

LOCAL ARMY AND NAVY NEWS

Affairs are at almost a standstill at the Westford street armory at present. Armorer Hunt visited Framingham yesterday afternoon and reported the soldiers in excellent condition. The soldiers were indulging in settling-up exercises at the time he was present, and on account of the humidity were stripped to the waist. Later they

WAR AGAINST WASTE STILL RAGING

It is hoped and believed that the campaign for the enrollment of the housekeepers of this city under the banner of the Lowell women's council of the national defense committee for the conservation of food will be brought to a close Saturday, at which time it is expected all the volunteer workers will bring in their final report. It was learned at headquarters this noon that two or three of the nine local wards had been completed and the women in charge of the remaining wards are doing their best to wind up their work for the latter part of the week.

The women who are working in the wards where there are many foreign families have been handicapped to some extent in their work, owing to the fact that the enrollment cards printed in foreign languages, 10,000 in number, did not arrive until the campaign was well underway. In some instances interpreters were engaged.

As soon as the cards were received at the war work office in Merrimack street they were arranged and sent to national headquarters at Washington, D. C. One of the women in charge of the local office stated this morning that, although there is no way of telling at present just how much success the food conservation campaign will have in Lowell, it is fair to assume that a lot of good will derive from it. The housekeepers were not given instructions as to the conservation of food, but were simply asked to do their very best in eliminating waste, and to that all have agreed.

If the plan for the opening of a public vegetable market works out, the women, "within a short time we will be in a position to give a fairly good statement as to the success of the campaign."

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock there will be a meeting at city hall for the purpose of discussing the possibility and advisability of opening a public vegetable market in the city, and the project goes through it is probable that the women in charge of the food conservation campaign will have charge of the market.

An invitation is being extended to men and women interested in such movement and it is hoped the "alter-male chamber at city hall will be filled to its capacity. A speaker from out of town, who is in charge of a public market of this kind in his home city will address the gathering and explain the benefits to be derived from such a market. The plan is to have a large store somewhere in the center of the city, where farmers and garden truck producers from the city and surrounding towns will leave their goods every morning to be sold direct to the consumer. Producers are particularly invited to attend the meeting and give their views on the project. The meeting will be held at 7.30 o'clock and will be presided over by Mayor O'Donnell.

IMPORTANCE OF STORAGE FACILITIES TO ACCOMMODATE SUPPLIES FOR AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Importance of ample storage facilities at or near seaports to accommodate great stocks of supplies for American forces in Europe is emphasized today by the national defense council's storage committee.

"Expenditures in excess of fifty million dollars for terminal storage areas at or near the seaboard will undoubtedly be necessary," said a committee statement. "Not a moment should be lost in providing these facilities. The equipment which it is necessary to provide for each soldier going overseas amounts to above five and a half tons. This storage load will be put upon the nation before the end of the year."

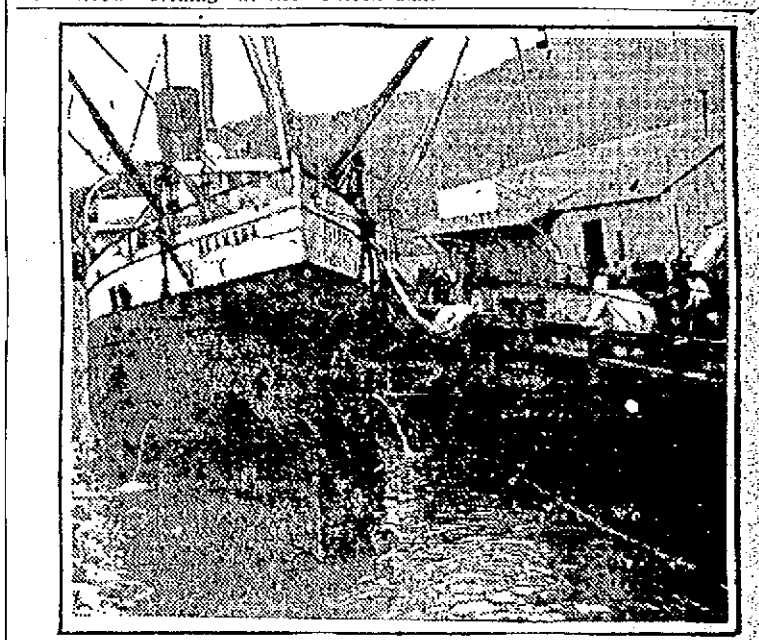

"Both at the cantonnments and at the terminal depots of the Atlantic seaboard it is essential that the storage areas should be of a size that will permit immediate unloading of freight cars."

STRIKE NOT SETTLED

Although the strike of 100 men employed in the cloth room of the Merrimack mills has not been definitely settled, Agent Wadleigh stated today that a number of the men have returned to work and it is expected that the matter will be completely settled in a few days.

LIKE MOVIES IN ALASKA

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Motion pictures sent by the government to Alaska last year have met with so much popular favor among the natives that Fisheries Agent Fassett, in charge of the station at St. Paul Island, recommends that a new set be sent for the coming winter. Government officials are planning to send them. Comedy, news and educational subjects are the most popular.

View of docks at Cordova, where millions in copper ore are shipped monthly

GOLD MEANS NOTHING TO CORDOVA FOLKS—MOUNTAINS OF COPPER TURN OUT WEALTH

CORDOVA, Alaska, July.—Coffee and doughnuts used to look mighty good to Steve Birch.

Not long ago he rode out to the Guggenheim mines here with his New York bride in a $50,000 private honeymoon tour.

The ship that brought him north had built a special luxurious bridal suite for the general manager of the Guggenheim interests.

Two new houses were hurriedly constructed for him, one here and one at the Kennicott mines.

Mrs. Birch should see that Alaska was no longer a howling wilderness!

Steve, possibly remembering those coffee-and-doughnut days, was illustrating the regal life of the northern copper kings.

Old-timers who knew Steve in Down South at him a bit for his extravagance, envy him his highly enjoyed chance to get in on the ground floor of the great mountains of almost solid ore.

The Kennicott mines, Guggenheim property, 190 miles back on the Copper river, have been producing recently over $3,000,000 worth of ore every month.

Copper is a valuable ingredient in Europe's war effort. It brings close to 30 cents a pound today. Europe's position is Cordova's meat. While the war lasts, at least, Cordova will continue to think and produce in terms of millions of Gold. With both gold when mountains of 70 per cent copper wait to be mined.

A $50,000 bridal car, to be used a few days as there is then a party in a drop in this stream of wealth.

Ore trains rattle down the Copper River road to the wharf here, day and night. Ships come and go hurriedly with the precious freight.

Cordova hums with activity. Promoters of other copper properties adjacent to the big producers are bootstrapping it into developing capital. This town has become synonymous with the riches of a Ceresus.

But there are still a few men in Cordova who are glad to get coffee and doughnuts while their finger samples of ore that are to make them wealthy.

MUSICAL ATTRACTION TOMORROW NIGHT

The second entertainment of a series of three which comprises the grand Lowell dancing carnival of 1917 is in the nature of a musical treat in which appear only girls; hence the designation—"The All-Girl Show" which, by the way, is attracting the attention of the music lovers of Lowell and vicinity. If interest in the affair can be taken as a guarantee as to the size of the crowd which will be in evidence at the Kasino tomorrow night, that amusement resort will be filled to capacity. Arrangements have been made to accommodate a record crowd at this fun fest tomorrow night, which being out-doors in a high and open section of the city will be all the more inviting.

CANDIDATES FOR HIGH SCHOOL MASTER

No definite developments in regard to the matter of selecting a successor to the late Cyrus W. Irish as principal of the local high school have occurred as yet. Two members of the school board, Dr. John H. Lambert, the chairman, and John C. Leggat, are both out of town, and will not return until the first of next month. The other three members, Messrs. Calise, Keyes and Walsh, state that there will be no action taken until the missing members return. The next regular meeting of the school board is scheduled for Tuesday evening, July 21, but whether any action will be taken then is uncertain as yet. There has been some talk as to the necessity of appointing a principal as early as possible in order that he may make plans for the coming school year, but the committee are disinclined to take this view of the situation. At present the organization of the school is being handled by Supt. Hugh Molloy and the teachers of the school, and this arrangement will continue until a successor is appointed.

There are four active candidates in the field for the position so far as is known, and a Mr. Hanson of New London, Conn., who is the principal of one of the large grammar schools of that city, is said to be a candidate, although he has not actively entered the contest. The four avowed candidates are Carl D. Burt, sub-master of the Lowell high school; Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varnum school; Herbert D. Bixby, principal of the Bartlett school, and a Mr. Plummer, principal of the Classical high school in Fall River.

LOWELL MEN IN RECOUNT VOTE

Special To The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 19.—Lowell's delegation in the constitutional convention voted 4 to 1 in favor of a recount of the votes cast for delegates-at-large in the convention, but the proposition was defeated by a vote of 106 to 164.

Delegates Smith J. Adams, John W. Daly, Patrick F. Nestor and John J. O'Connell voted for the recount, while Delegate William H. Wilcox voted against it. Delegates Maurice A. Rueck of Billerica, Edward K. H. Westford and Edward J. Robbins of Chelmsford all voted in the negative.

Delegates Henry V. Chabonneau, Peter Daley and Hamlet S. Greenwood were not recorded.

The recount was asked for on behalf of Patrick H. Jennings of Boston, who appeared on the original returns to have been elected. A tabulation by the governor's council, however, showed Jennings had given his place to Arthur D. Hill of Boston, but errors were discovered in this tabulation, and a second effort by the governor's council resulted in the substitution of Charles F. Choate, Jr. of Southboro in place of Hill, and still leaving Jennings outside the circle of Labor leaders in the convention contended that so much jockeying of the returns had caused many persons to believe that there was something "irregular" about the counting of the ballots.

Mr. Choate favored the recount, declaring that no delegate should sit in the convention if there was the slightest doubt as to his right to hold a seat.

Mr. Dean of Fall River, on behalf of the majority of the committee on elections, said there is no doubt whatever as to Mr. Choate's right to hold the seat. He said the committee had carefully canvassed the returns made by the city and town clerks, and after eliminating all the errors made by the governor's council, found that Mr. Choate led Mr. Jennings by more than 1600 votes.

No other business of importance was done yesterday, except that the convention voted to begin today its sessions in committee of the whole, to discuss the many reports filed by committees, all of which, under the rules, are automatically referred to the convention sitting in committee of the whole.

PUSH UP PRICE ON BOOZE

Higher prices for everything have been in order for a long time and since the outbreak of the war almost every day announcement is made of an increase in the price of some commodity. Now it is an increase in the price of intoxicating liquors.

As a result of a meeting of the local dealers during the early part of the week the prices went up on bottled goods this morning. Herebefore half pints of whiskey were sold for 35 cents are now selling for 35 cents. 50 cent pints have gone up to 65 cents and quarts which formerly sold for $1 are now retailing at $1.25.

Next Monday the bump will come, however, for a glass of whiskey which is being sold over the bar for 10 cents at the present time will cost 15 cents per copy and there will not be any two drinks for a quarter. Fifteen cent whiskey will go up to 20 cents and the cheapest brandy will retail for 20 cents a drink.

Dealers claim that despite the fact that repeated taxes have been imposed and the price of liquors and beers have gone up it was not until now that the consumer has felt the increase. Gin is scarce as is also brandy and other liquors.

DRAFT ESTIMATES BASED ON FACTS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—In response to Senator Brandegee's resolution calling for an explanation of the census bureau's population estimates to establish quotas for the forthcoming army draft, Secretary Redfield today submitted a report to the senate showing that the estimates were based upon actual registration figures in each state and sub-division.

He pointed out that the large estimates for certain localities, particularly industrial centers, was accounted for by the abnormal gathering of men of draft age at those places for work in munitions plants.

CONFERENCES IN PARIS OF REP. PRESENTATIVES OF THE AL- LIED SOCIALISTS

PARIS, July 19.—At a meeting of the French parliamentary socialist group at which Albert Thomas, minister of munitions, was present, it was decided that it was of the greatest interest for socialists of allied governments to come to an agreement on all points which might eventually be discussed at the Stockholm conference. It was accordingly resolved to call preliminary conferences in Paris of representatives of the allied socialists. Telegrams were sent to members now in London and to British socialist organizations asking their adhesion to such a preliminary conference.
